ANNOUNCE OCEAN AIR LINE

MOB MENACE GUARDED POLISH ENVOY IN RUSSIA

Bitter Against London and Warsaw.

MOSCOW, June 8.—(P)—A huge demonstration against Poland, growing out of the assassination of the Polish minister to Warsaw, started this afternoon in the streets leading to the Polish embassy, the demonstrators marching in increasing numbers until late tonight, shouting and waving flags. The Polish embassy was heavily guarded by special Russian troops.

Two Bomb Outrages.

Public tension has been increased by two terrorist outrages within twenty-four hours which have shocked the Soviet, particularly communist circles, and given cause for increased vigilance. Not since the winter of 1918, when an attempt was made by social revolutionists to bomb the Moscow committee of the communist party, have the terrorists dared to defy that dreaded organization.

Blast in Debating Society.

Late last night twenty-six persons, including ten young women, all members of the Leningrad Communist Discussion club, were injured when two bombs were thrown into the hall where they were meeting. The bomb throwers escaped, firing revolvers as they fled.

Poland in Crisis

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
WARSAW, June 8.—The body of Peter Volkoff, Russian minister to Warsaw, who was assassinated by a 19-year-old student, is lying in full state in the crepe veiled ballroom of the Russian embassy. Outside hundreds are passing quietly through the streets. Diplomats are anxiously conferring, awed by the memory of a similar murder at Sarajevo, in June, 1914, which led to the world war.

SENATE BATTLE FAILS TO HALT OR AMEND THEM

Others Expected to Win Approval.

"My Illinois"

The Illinois state senate yesterday adopted a resolution providing a referendum on the question of putting a permanent limit on Cook county seats in that body. The limit is the present number, nineteen.

By OSCAR HEWITT.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Springfield, Ill., June 8.—(Special.)—The senate passed two of the Chicago transportation bills and advanced the other three from second to third reading tonight in the face of such sensational comments as these: "Worst bills of this session." "Most vicious bills ever before the senate." "Violation of all of Chicago's rights?" "These ignore Chicago citizens." "They mean a profit of $50,000,000 to common-stock holders." "The senate is just a rubber stamp for the sponsors of the bills." "These mean the ruin of small property owners."

Loosing Fight Goes On.

The fight will go on tomorrow, when the other three bills will be placed on final passage, with every indication they will be adopted. Five roll calls today showed that the sponsors of the bills, who have been repeatedly and publicly proclaimed to be the surface and elevated lines of Chicago, have control of more than enough votes to put through the entire program without change or amendment. That was exactly the system used today and yesterday, in the consideration of the five bills.

How Senate Lined Up.

The roll call on the first bill, No. 488, which confers additional powers upon Chicago with ability to build subways by special assessments, city bond issues, or by using the city's $45,000,000 traction fund, showed thirty for the bill and twenty against it. The lineup was as follows:

FOR BILL—Aft. Barr, Broderick, Carlson, Carroll, Cuthbertson, Daily, Denvir, Hoene, Hicks, Huebsch, Hughes, Joyce, Kessinger, Lantz, Leonard, McDermott, McNay, Marks, Mason, Meents, Roberts, Seary, Speed, Starr, Steinert, Thompson, Van Lent, Woods, and Wright. Total, 30.

AVIATION NOTES

Next—A two hop flight from Frisco to Yokohama.

It would take an airplane, flying steadily at 100 miles an hour, 18,000,000 years to fly to the nearest star. (Note spots on sun. They are responsible for our cool spring weather.)

We'll be talking this way in a few years.

100,000 Will Help Capital Greet Lindy

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., June 8.—(Special.)—More than 100,000 visitors are coming to join Washington's 500,000 citizens in the spectacular reception which will be accorded Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh when the trans-Atlantic flyer arrives in the capital city Saturday noon to receive the nation's commendation of his achievement in the form of the Distinguished Flying Cross, to be presented by President Coolidge.

May Excel Inauguration Crowd.

Special trains are scheduled to bring thousands from all over the east and middle west, and advance reservations, according to railroad officials, bid fair to equal, if not exceed, the inauguration lookings of many years.

Secretary of War Davis by Louis K.

Liggett of Boston, and Joseph W. West and George Brooks, both of Philadelphia, and it was proposed to have President Coolidge present the trust deed to Lindbergh on Saturday. The offer was made to Lindbergh in London, with the explanation that after the original purposes of the trust had been fulfilled, the income would be used for the furtherance of aviation, such as in the care of families of deceased aviators.

Dynamite Bomb Wrecks Restaurant Building Front

Explosion of a dynamite bomb early this morning wrecked the front of the two-story building at 227 East 71st street, occupied on the ground floor by the Holman grocery and on the second floor by the Teo Inn, a Chinese restaurant. All the windows in the structure were smashed and residents for blocks around were roused by the detonation. The damage was estimated at $5,000. Morris Criss, 6955 Maryland avenue, proprietor of the restaurant, could furnish no reason for the bombing.

Bus Tips Over in 5th Avenue; 2 Die, 30 Hurt

New York, June 8.—(Special.)—Two persons were killed and thirty others were injured, one probably fatally, tonight when a southbound fifth avenue bus crashed into an automobile at 5th avenue and 65th street, ran on the sidewalk and overturned next to a wall.

The Dead are Matthew Malumby,

a sales manager, and Clyde Bowen of Billings, Mont. Both died in Mount Sinai hospital of fractured skulls. James A. Brewster was near death from a fracture of the skull.

The driver of the automobile into which the bus was driven escaped injury, but two passengers in the tonneau were hurt.

N. Y. C. FLYER CRASHES INTO TWO PULLMANS

Rochester, N. Y., June 8.—(P)—The New York limited, crack night express of the New York Central railroad, bound from Cleveland to New York, crashed head-on into two Pullmans, filled with sleeping passengers, on a siding at the station here about 11 a. m. standard time, this morning.

More than a hundred passengers in the Rochester Pullmans were hurled from their berths and some of them cut and bruised. Passengers in the limited were jolted by the crash. Physicians found that few passengers needed medical attention.

Railroad officials said that a switch tender had thrown the wrong switch as the limited entered the station yards. The fact that the limited was traveling slowly averted a serious accident.

Husband Cuts Own Pay to Spare Wife, She Charges

Mrs. Helen Deery of 2512 Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn, yesterday charged before Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch that her husband, Harry P. ## LEVINE TELLS OF PLANS FOR REGULAR TRIPS

Crazy Compass Puts Thrill in Flight.

Hindenburg Hugs Yanks

Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, who flew from New York to Germany, continued yesterday to receive the plaudits of Germany. President von Hindenburg received the flyers with great pomp. He was so thrilled by their feat that he hugged and kissed the Americans.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, June 8.—(P)—Charles A. Levine declared today that he and Clarence D. Chamberlin planned a regular trans-Atlantic aerial service, using multi-motored machines capable of carrying 2,000 pounds each. Levine stated that he was ready to put $2,000,000 into the scheme, and that both he and Chamberlin thought it could become operative within a year.

By CLARENCE D. CHAMBERLIN and CHARLES A. LEVINE.

[By Special Cable to New York Times and Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, June 8.—For weeks before our flight, we had planned for it. This was based on the promise made by one of us, Chamberlin, that he would gladly go alone with the other—Levine—instead of a more experienced pilot or navigator.

We took practice spins for testing out our compasses. In these trial trips we tried to pick out heavy clouds and go through them to become accustomed to fog and clouds—also to see whether our instruments functioned properly while doing so.

The big thing was to keep secret as to who was to be the second man—it was always known to Chamberlin who would be the other. He made a promise he would not breathe to a single soul who was to be the second man. Our answer to inquiries from newspaper men and others was that the second man had already been selected and that his name would not be announced until the plane actually was ready to hop off, when he would jump into it. This would give Levine an opportunity to do the very thing without anybody suspecting it.

Forced to Make Second Start.

The excitement of our transatlantic flight began right before we had got away from New York. Instead of making a good start we found we could not rise clear of the ground, so we had to come back and start all over again. This is easier said than done.

Just after we had started the first time the crowd below poured on to the field in thousands. We had to sit clear of the Byrd plane which was at one end of the runway and at the same time keep from smashing into the crowd of thousands on both sides of us. It was a miracle that our plane got away without killing some one, but it did.

Everything was fine for about 100 miles. Then we suddenly realized our compasses were not agreeing. We noticed this when we found we had missed New London, Conn. Chamberlin knew this part of the country so well that when we did not see New London he instantly knew there was something wrong.

Indicator Compass Must Wait.

It was wrong, all right. We found our earth indicator compass running wild. This reduced us to using the only other compass we had, an old magnetic compass of the sort you use when flying over country you know perfectly well and where difficulties are reduced to a minimum—the kind you use around home, in short.

This got us so far out of the course we should have taken that when we were a bit beyond Cape Cod we really did not know whether to keep on or turn back. But our doubts only lasted a little while. One of us—Levine—said it would be better to be lost than to be lost. We decided to turn back and fly home. We were on our way, but we didn't know where we would land. So we headed out 250 miles of open water that lay between us and Nova Scotia. And then, as if we had not trouble enough about compasses, we began to buck head winds.

It took us much longer than we figured to hit Nova Scotia, and when we got there we were miles off our course—two and a half hours late and many miles off Cape Race.

Now, we knew if we kept up that sort of thing it would be landing in the big drink for us. But it was too late to hesitate. The plane was turned toward the open Atlantic and we gritted our teeth and started to buck the really big part of our task.

The next thrill was an iceberg. At first we simply couldn't make out what it was.

"Surely there is no ship as white as that," we said to each other—because, you see, it looked like a ship. We dipped down so we could get a good look at the thing, and then we saw it was an iceberg—the first one either of us had ever seen.

Check Drift of Icebergs.

It was quite a surprise that big white hunk of ice out there in the middle of the ocean. We thought we had figured on everything we might meet but somehow neither of us had thought of that. Afterward, there was no thrill in icebergs at all. Before we got far out into the Atlantic we sighted 15 or 20 of these big white fellows and at least 18 small ones.

We used icebergs to check our drift from our course, since icebergs seemed fairly stationary. Chamberlin took a look at one big fellow and remarked, "I wonder if we could climb to the top of that thing if we were forced to land on it."

By the way, the icebergs looked grand in the moonlight.

After the icebergs came fog and that bothered us a lot. Incidentally, we got a big surprise at expected fog and plenty of it off the Grand Banks, since we heard they were famous for it, but we did not strike a vestige of fog there. After we got clear of the Banks we found fog where we didn't expect it at all. Mr. Kimball, the New York weather man, had advised us that we hit fog in bad weather on the northward course—which we had mapped out—we should wear a bit southward and we would find things all right.

Once the fog was so bad that Chamberlin went up fully 15,000 feet, hoping to clear it. But in vain. This was as high as we could climb with the load we were carrying. From there we dropped down to a few feet over the water but still there was fog all around.

Exchange Signals with Ship.

And all this while we were reduced to navigating with a compass, which we didn't believe in anyhow, so you can easily understand that we soon were absolutely at a loss to know just where we were.

The temperature soon rose to above 60 degrees and we began to fear we were getting too far south.

It was past midnight when we exchanged signals about 600 miles off the coast of Newfoundland with some boat which passed a short distance from us, but we never found out what boat it was. We flashed our searchlight, putting it off and on several times, and we knew they recognized it because they acknowledged it in the same way. We dropped down rather close to them trying to read their name.

Where Are We Going?

By that time we were wondering whether we were going to hit Ireland, England, France, or Spain, which shows to what extent we were lost up there in the storm fog and clouds.

And then came our next big thrill—the Mauretania. Suddenly she loomed up at us from down below, about ten miles distant, and we certainly made a bee line for her. We circled several times over her and clearly read her name. We waved our hands to passengers on her decks.

We immediately dug up a copy of the New York Times which we were carrying in the back of our plane. We

7 ALDERMEN LEAVE TODAY; WILL INVITE LINDBERGH TO CHICAGO

If Col. Charles A. Lindbergh doesn't pay Chicago a visit the latter part of the week after next it will not be because he does not receive enough tempting invitations.

In half a dozen local quarters yesterday, officials and organizations were busy devising means to bring the young New York-to-Paris aviator here and to give him a record-breaking reception.

The official invitation, a hand-engraved copy of a city council resolution signed by Mayor Thompson, will be carried to Washington today by a committee of seven aldermen, headed by Ald. A. J. Horan. They will also present to Lindbergh, when he arrives at the capital Friday, an invitation from officers in charge of the Soldiers' field war show, June 22, 23, and 24, at which it is hoped he will be a guest of honor.

In addition to these "Lindy" has been asked by Mrs. Gertrude Coutellier, 3145 Dearborn avenue, mother of Eugene Coutellier, who lost his life flying in 1925, to be a guest at her home. Mrs. Coutellier knew Lindbergh when he was a friend of her son.

turned over the pages until we found the steamship news and learned what days the Mauretania had sailed from Southampton.

Having found it, we started computing what her position would be roughly, when we sighted her and from that we computed our position and saw we were somewhere near Ireland or England, but there was one mighty big one. After we had gone quite a strip of the European continent and were well on our way toward Berlin there came a thrill which we figure out was the biggest of the whole trip.

Forced to High Altitude.

We found ourselves forced to go into an altitude something like 20,000 feet and stay there one whole night. For all we knew, we might have been even higher, because the altitude recorder we were carrying only registered as far as that height—as soon as you get to 20,000 feet it becomes all guesswork, how much higher you may be. Our thermometer registered 15 degrees above the freezing point. It certainly was cold. We stuck up there at that altitude right through the night before we could venture down further. Those hours were not at all pleasant.

After that, there were not any really big thrills—not even when we were forced to land for the first time in Germany, because of our gasoline running out, and not even when the plane came down on its nose near Kottbus.

[Another story of this series will appear in The Tribune tomorrow.]

LINDBERGH SEES OCEAN DOTTED WITH HANGARS

Will Offer Landings for Future Air Liners.

BY CAPT. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH. (Copyright 1927. By the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, South America, Japan, Europe, and the British Empire by the New York Times Company. All rights reserved.) (By Wireless to New York Times and Chicago Tribune.)

ABOARD THE CRUISER MEMPHIS, At Sea, June 8.—While the interest of the American people is centered on trans-Atlantic flying, it is an appropriate time to discuss mature possibilities of a regular air service between the new world and the old.

I have been thinking a great deal about this whole interesting question since the Memphis left for home, and certain ideas have occurred which may be of value to set forth. The fact that the Atlantic has been flown does not mean that the problems connected with transoceanic flying have been more than touched.

Aviation, like any other great industry, must base its growth on a solid foundation, and proper organization of regular air service between the United States and Europe will require some years of careful experiments and study. However, steps have been made and progress should be rapid and reasonably sure if one takes into consideration the speed with which aviation has already advanced since the date of its birth.

Will Use Flying Boats.

In prophesying the future of trans-Atlantic flying it is necessary to take into consideration the improvement of planes and equipment necessary to its successful inception.

Any regular long distance flight services over great expanses of water will undoubtedly be made with flying boats which will be capable of continuing flight with at least one motor out of commission and will be able to weather rough seas in the event of forced landing. There will be constant radio communication with some ground or water hazards, and herein lies one of the serious problems which must be given serious and immediate attention.

The establishment of floating stations along transoceanic airways to without doubt the largest obstacle to overcome in connection with sustained transoceanic air communications. In the first place, they must be large enough to shelter the air liners and contain all modern equipment as well.

Must Withstand Storms.

They must also provide adequate housing facilities for passengers, since there will be occasions when it will be necessary to halt a number of hours. But what is more to the point, these island shelters in the Atlantic must be able to give all these services in the face of severest storms. To insure the comfort of passengers and further reduce the dangers of the voyage the islands should be located not more than a few hundred miles apart.

Just how this engineering question can be worked out cannot of course, be gone into just now, but I think it is feasible and I am reasonably certain that the islands will come with the advancement of aviation.

As far as ocean air liners themselves are concerned, aeronautical engineering has already reached a stage where the construction and development are simply a matter of intelligent financial backing. All the necessary comforts which go to make travel pleasant can be incorporated into these air liners.

Travel by Air Now Established.

The cost of air transportation will naturally be regulated by the volume of the commerce because the expense of operating the ground organization of an airplane is nearly as great with a small volume of traffic as with a much larger turnover.

Air mail routes in the United States already have proved their value and are constantly working towards higher standards of efficiency. They are operating in competition with the fastest trains and often over short hauls.

Travel by air is an established thing throughout the world, but especially in European countries, and the public will patronize the trans-Atlantic service just as soon as it demonstrates practicality and reasonable safety.

Means Savings in Days.

The trans-Atlantic air liners will compete only with boats and over long distances, with the resultant saving in time amounting to days rather than hours.

To discuss the many advantages of transoceanic flying financially and otherwise is hardly necessary here, although in question of time alone it is easy to see the vast saving which can be effected. Big business will at once see its superior aspects and certainly every one will use it for the transport of important mail.

In summing up, therefore, the following conclusions may be drawn:

First, transoceanic air service is not only practical but inevitable.

Second, it will be conducted with multimotors and flying boats, operating in conjunction with floating air stations.

This first regular transoceanic air service will probably be inaugurated from five to ten years from now.

With only 1,200 more miles to go before we come alongside Washington navy yard, all danger of seasickness is over.

This régime aboard ship has put me in fine shape. Breakfast at 8 o'clock, plenty of fresh air, exercise, wonderful food, no speeches and to bed at a reasonable hour in a comfortable cabin. I will be ready for anything when I step on dry land again.

MOTHER IS A DRY, BUT CHAMBERLIN IS IN BERLIN, SO—

Detison, Ia., June 8.—(AP)—If Clarence D. Chamberlin samples some choice German brew before leaving Berlin, that is "his affair," the intrepid flyer's mother, who is a staunch prohibitionist, said here today.

"Clarence is old enough to know what is right," she declared. "He has never touched intoxicating beverages in his life, because he didn't want any. If he has changed his mind, I have no comment to make. Both his father and I are believers in total abstinence."

When asked if she believed Clarence could go very far in Germany without running on to some beer, there was a pause, then a short laugh. "No, I suppose not, but their standards of life over there are different," she said.

CHAMBERLIN AND LEVINE HUGGED BY HINDENBURG

Old Warrior Thrilled by U. S. Flyers' Feat.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BERLIN, June 8.—The personal regards of President von Hindenburg in his uniform and the German white house servants in canary yellow frock coats, wine red breeches, white silk shirts and silver buckled pumps, added to the pomp and color today to the reception of the American flyers, who landed on Germany's president to be welcomed for their epic flight over the Atlantic and a continent shrouded in fog to Berlin.

In plus fours and leather coat—his flying outfit—Clarence Chamberlin named the saluting soldiers and bowed to the servants. Charles A. Levine, his small striped suit neatly pressed, followed. They were accompanied by Ambassador Jacob Gould Schurman in a light morning coat.

The chief German protocol minister, Herr Koester, came down the steps of the German White House to meet them.

Feet Stir Old Warrior.

They were led into the private office of President von Hindenburg, who wore a black frock coat, which has taken the place of his uniform of war. His welcome to the American flyers had all the fire of enthusiasm and that cool, observing nature which warms only to true greatness and courage and then comes out with an embracing warmth.

None of his former officers want to believe it, but the former field marshal and president of Germany actually hugged and kissed the flyers. For twenty minutes he asked questions and praised the American boys who had crossed the ocean. Then, as a souvenir of their first day in the German capital, he gave them autographed photographs in silver frames.

Crowds Storm Flyers.

When the flyers and ambassador left the white house thousands who had gathered at the Wilhelmstrasse gate broke through the thick cordons of police and surrounded the car in a frenzy of enthusiasm.

Ever since Sunday night crowds have been waiting for the flyers. First the police kept them back, and then the American embassy kept them hidden away from the adoring crowds. Just a glimpse of them was caught when they arrived at the embassy. For hours last night the crowds waited, shouting: "Chamberlin komm raus."

To make it clear that the simple dress of the town were not to see the aviators, who were reserved for the officials—at least that is the way the man in the street understood it—the embassy pulled down the blinds.

Those who knew a few words of English chipped in their dimes and from time to time the crowd would send a telegram to Mr. Chamberlin saying, "We are here to see you."

When finally word reached the American flyers that the crowds were clamoring for a look at them, they hastened on going to the front parlor of the embassy and to delight the adoring crowds they climbed up on the window sills to give them a real good look and wave back their greetings.

Buy Some New Clothes.

Tailors called on the flyers this afternoon. At first they thought of buying dress suits and dinner clothes for the big functions being given on every side in their honor, but then they gave up the idea.

"Our wives are coming soon and are bringing all our things," they said, to their purchases were restricted. What for each of them, a sports suit with plus fours and long trousers and underwear completed their purchases today.

"Mr. Chamberlin's suit fits perfectly," the tailor declared proudly when leaving the embassy.

Nevertheless, Mr. Chamberlin declared he would appear in his flying to go at the official dinner given in his honor by the embassy tonight.

Name Street for Plane.

The little town of Kottbus will not be the only one to boast of a street named for the aviators. Berlin insists on this honor also. But the practical Berliners know that in everyday life the word "Chamberlin" will be hard to pronounce by those not knowing English, so they have decided to glorify the airplane, Columbia, which is much easier to pronounce and pays tribute to all concerned in the feat, builders as well as aviators.

When interviewed by THE TRIBUNE correspondent today Mr. Chamberlin and Mr. Levine declared their main purpose during their stay in Europe was to study commercial air navigation in Europe, and they hope to fly to Vienna, Rome, London, and possibly Moscow. Mr. Chamberlin declared: "Tempelhof aviation field is the best equipped air traveling center I have seen."

The Germans are delighted, claiming there is not another air station in the world than can rival theirs.

Chamberlin Hopes to See Mother.

Mr. Chamberlin hopes that by the time he reaches London his mother will be able to join him.

"She was born in England and she always has dreamed of going back there for a visit—and I would like to take her around myself," he said.

Offered $100,000 to Fly Home.

Chamberlin and Levine are considering an offer of $100,000 to fly back home across the Atlantic, they announced today. Levine said the flight was up to the pilot and if Chamber-

HUNDREDS RUSH TO BEACHES AS CHICAGO MERCURY TOUCHES 82

With the official opening of the bathing beaches still some two weeks away, hundreds rushed to the season yesterday and invaded the lake as the temperature mounted to 82 at 4:30 p. m.

But those who expect to repeat yesterday's swimming today will be disappointed, according to the weather bureau forecast. Cooler weather with unsettled skies and thunder storms by or before night was the official prediction.

The beaches will be officially opened on or about June 24, Walter Wright, city superintendent of beaches, said. "We may open them before that if we get an unexpected hot spell," Mr. Wright said. "Bathing suit lengths? Well, that's an annual question. All I can say to the girls is, 'Let your conscience be your guide.'" out with a high grade machine, meeting with the full approbation of German experts.

Despite the jolting at the forced landing near Kottbus, all the component parts of the machine, from motor to steering gear, are perfect. Chamberlin himself best showed his confidence by declaring a general overhauling would be superfluous.

Received by Chancellor Marx.

From Tempelhof, Chamberlin, accompanied by the military attaché, Col. Conger, drove to the reception arranged by Chancellor Marx and Frau Marx. Mr. Levine was also there. They met Gustav Stresemann, the foreign minister, various other members of the cabinet, and many representatives of the government and the department of aviation.

After their presentation by Ambassador Schurman, the chancellor congratulated the flyers on the success of their "daring venture." He voiced the hope that their "wonderful achievement may prove to be a new connecting link between the American and German peoples."

While official Berlin is solemnly feasting the aviators, the populace outside not only is talking, but singing about them. A ballad has been evolved, beginning: "Chamberlin, Chamberlin, lasch sehen in Berlin." It is sung to the familiar German nursery rhyme of "Hänschen Klein," and is being trilled on the streets, in the cabarets and in home gatherings.

Chamberlin at the end of the first twenty-four hours in the capital estimates that he has signed 5,000 autographs. "If this continues," he laughed, "I may decide to become an author."

He was pleased today to receive a new automobile from an American concern.

FOUR FIREMEN COLLAPSE DURING CHEMICAL BLAZE

Lieut. James Boldern and Fireman Kiner Erickson, Frank Rump and Richard Delaney, all of Truck 19, last night were overcome by fumes, carried from a roof by comrades and taken to hospitals while fighting a fire at the Elcher & Clarke Chemical company at 406 North Hermitage avenue.

As the fire blazed in the one story brick building, the lieutenant led his men to the roof. There with axes they cut a hole in a sky light and as the fumes from burning chemicals struck them, they collapsed. Physicians said none of them was seriously injured.

Another fire during the evening threatened to destroy the large plant of the Peterson Core Oil and Manufacturing company at 718 South Kolmar avenue. Several small oil tanks exploded but quick action by firemen prevented the fire from spreading.

Mrs. Beale Dowdy, 55, trapped in her room on the third floor of a burning building at 416 North Lincoln street, early this morning was carried down a ladder by Pipeman Edward J. Davis of truck 7. Eight firemen escaped injury and possible death when a wall collapsed, missing them by only a few feet.

THREE STUDENTS

NEARLY DROWN IN

RESCUING OF TWO

Rescuing rescuers almost became a pastime at Lake Forest college early last evening, while William Powers and P. C. Olson, students, clung for more than an hour to an overturned canoe a mile out in the lake waiting for help.

Max Bradfield, freshman, was the first to attempt to aid them. He swam out to the canoe, but when he got there found he, too, had to cling to the frail craft and add his shouts to theirs.

Roy Swanson, another freshman, then started a rescue attempt, but became exhausted half way out and was in turn rescued by Harry Brush. Three unidentified youths, also said to be students at the college, finally got a rowboat from a nearby bath house and brought all five students ashore.

REVEALS CACHE OF $1,000,000 STOLEN JEWELS

New York, June 8.—(U. P.)—Arthur Gibson, who today pleaded guilty of the jewel robbery at the home of Jesse L. Livermore, was said to have confessed to police tonight the secret hiding places of jewels worth from $750,000 to $1,000,000 procured in other robberies.

Questioned for six hours in the office of District Attorney Edwards of Nassau county, Gibson related how he and his associates had executed a series of thefts in wealthy homes. Earlier today Manhattan police took into custody a man suspected of being the "fence" for Gibson's gang. His identity was not revealed. Police also took into custody Morris Frank, owner of a barber shop, who they believe had Gibson's confidence.

VOTE PERPETUAL LIMIT ON CHICAGO OF 19 SENATORS

Seven from Cook County
Aid Downstaters.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—[Special.]—Having corralled secretly the necessary two-thirds vote, the senate today passed a joint resolution for a constitutional amendment limiting Cook county's representation in the legislature.

The present constitution requires that the state be divided into fifty-one senatorial districts, on the basis of population. The legislature has declined to obey this mandate, since 1900. The amendment approved today, if it sets through the lower house and is approved on a referendum, would limit Cook county to its present number of seats in the senate. In other words, the amendment would limit the number of Cook county senators to the number of Cook county representatives in the house.

The seven Cook county men, who voted to limit Chicago, and its immediate suburbs, were the following:

James J. Barbour,
Herman J. Haensch,
Arthur A. Huebsch,
John T. Joyce,
Lowell B. Mason,
Adelbert H. Roberts,
Theodore R. Sienert.

Loyal to Home County.
The six Cook county men who voted against the resolution, were: John J. Boehm, Thomas J. Courtney, John T. Denver, Frank McDermott, and Harry W. Starr.

The Cook county absentees were: John Broderick, Patrick J. Carroll, Edward J. Hughes, James B. Leonardo, Adolph Marks, and George Van Lent. The downstaters who voted against the proposal were Martin B. Bailey of Danville and Randolph Boyd of Galva. The senate's action came close on the heels of the Chicago transit bills being hurried on their way and there was an insinuation that the two subjects had become interlocked. But the conclusion of those who opposed the resolution was that the event that turned the tide was William Hale Thompson's visit to Springfield. The first Cook county men to line up with the downstaters are amenable to suggestions from Mr. Thompson—Senators Haensch and Joyce. Later another in this group said that Mayor Thompson asked him yesterday to vote for the compromise, saying that the Chicago newspapers had agreed to accept it.

Haensch and Roberts were the only two Cook men to explain their affirmative votes. Haensch said he'd rather have half a loaf than none and, a few minutes later, when the two downstate negatives had made adoption look doubtful, he summoned Corporation Counsel Etzelson of Chicago for a hurried conference in a hallway. Roberts denied that he was "deserting Chicago."

Barbour Changes Vote.
Senator Barbour voted "no" and declared the resolution a "futile gesture," because Cook county's nineteen votes could block it. Then in the midst of the roll call he changed his vote, saying he had misunderstood the proposal.

"It would have been a glorious thing for the city of Chicago," protested Senator Courtney. "If this session had never convened. First you pass the income tax; then you railroad the traction bills through and now you hand us this."

CARPENTER FALLS DEAD.
William Blodgett, 74, a carpenter, dropped dead yesterday while working on a building at 14th street and Lincoln avenue. Police are seeking a daughter said to live in Chicago.

LOYOLA GIVES DIPLOMAS TO A CLASS OF 550

Loyola university at its fifty-seventh annual commencement yesterday conferred degrees and diplomas on five hundred and fifty graduates of its various branches. The exercises were held on the campus at Rogers Park, and the Rev. Austin E. Schmidt, dean of the graduate school, delivered the commencement address, stressing opportunities.

Edith Spurlock Edith S. Sampson, Sampson, of 1150 E. D. Jones street, Calumet avenue, a young colored woman, was the only one of her sex among ten on whom President William H. Agnew, S. J., of Loyola, conferred degrees of master of laws. She is said to be the only colored woman ever to have such a degree conferred on her. She won the degree of bachelor of laws at John Marshall Law school, and is to be admitted to the bar during the next week.

MOVE TO EXCLUDE TRIBUNE WRITERS FAILS IN HOUSE

Newspaper Attacked by Two Members.

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—An attempt was made in the Illinois house of representatives today to bar all correspondents of THE TRIBUNE from the press box, the floor of the house, and the galleries.

It failed in the face of opposition from a body that—according to the vote on the governor's quo warranto bill—stands 104 to 29 against THE TRIBUNE's anti-Small policy.

Representative Harry McCarlin of Rock Island was the author of the resolution. He withdrew it without putting it to a vote. It was Mr. McCarlin's climax to a series of attacks on THE TRIBUNE which he began when disbarment proceedings were begun against his alleged misconduct in the trial of John Looney of Rock Island, one of whose counsel he was. Mr. McCarlin was cleared of the charges by the Supreme court.

Defends Rights of the Press.
Representative Howard P. Castle of Barrington and Representative Thomas J. O'Grady both spoke in defense, not of THE TRIBUNE, with whose policies they declared they frequently disagreed, but of the right of all the press to attend and report as they saw them the proceedings of the legislature.

"To adopt this resolution would be to make ourselves ridiculous," Mr. Castle declared.

"THE TRIBUNE has never supported me," said Mr. O'Grady, "but it is their right to disagree if they see fit." Representative Michael L. Logue, minority leader, first securing the retraction of an insinuation that those who spoke against the resolution were mouthpieces of THE TRIBUNE, moved to lay the resolution on the table. McCarlin withdrew it instead.

Browne Makes His Speech.
The McCarlin resolution followed Representative Lee O'Neill Browne's biennial denunciation of THE TRIBUNE, an event which occupied some forty minutes this morning and was—according to members who have heard the speech before—phrased in language about as unprintable as usual and including personal abuse of some of the employees and executives, past and present. Mr. Browne's peroration landed Gov. Small.

A large delegation of school children, on a visit to the statehouse, occupied seats in the speakers' gallery. The teachers led them out in the middle of Mr. Browne's talk.

Adopts Stepchildren After He Weds Mother

To be just a little more than a stepfather to his bride's children, Emil Hirsch, 47, 4300 Ellis avenue, a restaurant manager, yesterday adopted the youngsters immediately after being married to Mrs. Florence Gaylor, of 420 Merango avenue, Forest Park. County Judge John D. Biggs officiated at both proceedings, first the marriage ceremony and then granting the adoption petition which made Mr. Hirsch the legal parent as well as the stepfather of Donald and Jean, 2 and 6 years old.

SURFACE LINES' MEN VOTE TODAY ON STRIKE ISSUE

William D. Mahon of Detroit, international president of the street car men's union, is expected to take an active part in wage negotiations between union officials and officials of the Chicago Surface Lines when parleys are resumed next week, it was predicted yesterday.

In their initial demands the men asked a raise while the company demanded they accept a cut. The present scale is 75 cents per hour. Today the 15,000 members of the union will cast a strike ballot at Car Men's hall, Van Buren and Ashland avenue, the polls to be open from 6 a. m. to midnight.

MAYOR PONDERES SKYSCRAPER ON PUBLIC LIBRARY

A new $7,000,000 school administration building consisting of twenty-two stories of steel and stone built atop the present Chicago Public Library became a possibility yesterday when Mayor Thompson announced that specifications were being prepared for the proposed structure by city and school engineers.

"The building is needed," Mayor Thompson said, "and we feel that by constructing it on the library site it will have the advantage of a central location and will enable us to save money that would be paid for a site elsewhere."

"The library occupies only half the block on Michigan boulevard between Randolph and Washington streets, and we are not yet certain that it has sufficient strong foundations to support 22 additional stories. We do think, however, that a beautiful and substantial building of some kind can and will be built there."

Engineers will proceed with the plans, the mayor said, if additional bonding power is granted the city by the present session of the legislature.

PLAN GUARD FOR COOLIDGE DURING HAMMOND VISIT

Preparations for the protection of President Coolidge during his reception at Hammond, Ind., were started yesterday by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, local chief of the secret service department. Capt. Callaghan formerly was personal guard to the late President Woodrow Wilson.

President Coolidge will stop off in Hammond on June 14, en route to the Black Hills for his vacation. A special squad of local secret service men, Hammond and Chicago police will act as an extra bodyguard.

SENATE PASSES 2 TRANSIT BILLS; THREE UP TODAY

Opponents Beaten After Bitter Fight.

passed by a vote of 34 to 8. This is senate bill No. 437.

Franchise Bill Advanced.

The other three bills were advanced from second to third reading. No. 438 makes it mandatory upon a city or village heretofore to grant an indefinite franchise to the companies. The companies accepted two amendments to this. One allows a temporary franchise of not more than one year to be given, pending negotiations for an indefinite permit. The other requires a referendum on any indefinite permit ordinance.

Senate bill No. 439 permits a railroad doing a local transportation business (the elevated lines of Chicago) to take over the surface lines, buses, and suburban service of steam lines.

Senate bill No. 440 creates a district commission in Cook county to supervise and control the proposed gigantic transportation system.

Chicago Turned Down.

"The Allen bills, compared with those pending, were pitiful," said Senator Dunlap, who was in the senate when that legislation turned the state upside down. The request of the City of Chicago have been turned down. The requests for amendments have been ignored. Chicago has been treated unfairly."

"I can't agree to vote $50,000,000 into the pockets of the common stockholders of the transit companies," said Senator Swift.

"I want to enter a protest by my vote," said Senator Burgess, "because I think these are the most vicious I have ever seen here."

"The subway bill is a bill for the ruin of the small property owner," added Senator Boehm. "The special assessments under this bill would be greater than the value of their homes, if Chicagoans happen to live on the route of a subway."

Expects Public Disclaimer.

"I would not be surprised if, before the beginning of next week, there will be an expression of public sentiment coming from Chicago in the face of which the legislature will not dare to adopt these bills violating all of the rights of Chicago," said Senator Barbour.

"I realize that it is almost ridiculous to talk against these bills," said Senator Courtney. "It is evident that somebody somewhere spent months drafting these bills and we poor senators have been given no consideration when we propose amendments. I hope the people of Chicago will be given one-tenth of the consideration that the proponents of these bills have given to them. These bills will be passed but passed without a single amendment which the companies do not desire."

Senator Dalley, who last week said that the bills did not adequately, definitely, and accurately protect the public, defended them today. He proposed amendment by which Chicago can appeal to the courts when it believes that a provision of an indefinite franchise has been violated. It was accepted.

"When the public utilities bills were under consideration in 1913," Mr. Dalley said, "I heard Walter Clyde Jones predict all kinds of punishment for those who voted for the bills, even referring to lynching. But if I am not mistaken, every senator who voted against those bills left the senate, and there are four or five still here who voted for the bill."

Despite what Mr. Courtney has intimated, these bills have not been rushed. The subject has been considered since 1913. At that time the state had a commission, of which I was chairman, and we discussed the terminable permit in our report.

Quotes Mayor Thompson.

"The mayor of Chicago was here. He said: 'Pass these bills.' He said so unqualifiedly. He said pass the bills and that he would take care of the situation with an ordinance. He did not ask for any amendments."

"You cannot assume that the aldermen are crooks. They will handle the power given them intelligently."

"Did Mayor Thompson say that he wanted the bills without amendment?" put in Senator Courtney.

"No, he said nothing about amendments," replied Senator Dalley.

"Let me say that Mayor Thompson said he wanted the bills amended as the council proposed that they should be amended," said Courtney. "The representative of the union employees said they wanted the bills amended along the line proposed by the aldermen. The representative of the city council said it wanted the bill after they had been amended as their petition requested. No one has asked for these bills without amendments. At least no has done so in the open."

"This bill on indefinite permits is absolutely no good," asserted Senator Boehm. "It is the worst bill presented at this session of the general assembly. These transit interests have been robbing the people for years, and they desire a chance to go on with it for ever. They want a chance to water their stock. There is not enough water in it yet."

"The bill creating the district commission provides that its expenses shall be paid by the state," commented Senator Barbour. "Why? I'll tell you: It is because the governor and senators and representatives can put their snouts into Cook county affairs. They want to have a hand in Cook county affairs. They want to play politics there as well as downstate."

Aids Governor's Patronage.

"That is the reason why the governor is given control over the number of employees and the commission's expenses. My amendment would keep the governor's snout out of Cook county, no matter who he happens to be. My amendment would have the mayor of Chicago appoint four of the commissioners, and the county board the fifth member."

But this and all other amendments by Mr. Barbour and others except the one of Senator Dalley were voted down.

Lodge Visions Life

Created in Laboratories

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) LONDON, June 8.—The possibility that life some day will be created in the laboratories of biologists—creation of life by science—was the belief expressed by Sir Oliver Lodge in an address at Oxford university tonight.

"I would even regard it as probable," he declared. "Indeed, from some viewpoints I should say it is inevitable."

JURY ACQUITS DOCTOR ON TRIAL FOR PEONAGE

Athens, Ga., June 8.—(AP)—Dr. W. R. King, tried in Federal court here on a charge of peonage, tonight was acquitted by a jury.

The government charged that white and Negro men and women were held against their will, mistreated, and forced to work without pay on Dr. King's plantation.

Dr. King, who took the stand today, denied that any one ever was held on his farm against their will, asserted that his laborers were well treated, and said the only time he had struck Negro workers was in self-defense or for disciplinary purposes.

TRIES BAD CHECK TWICE; JAILER.

John Dixon, alias M. Martin, 35, who recently came from Detroit, made the mistake yesterday of attempting to pass a worthless check on one of his victims of the day before and as a result is locked up in the Evanston police station.

Duchess de Talleyrand Surprises Gem Burglar

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) PARIS, June 8.—The Duchess de Talleyrand, formerly Anna Gould, residing in a luxurious home in the fashionable Avenue Bois de Boulogne, was quietly putting away her jewels in the strong box in her bedroom at midnight when she spied through the mirror a burglar crouched in the hallway just outside the door. The duchess screamed and the intruder escaped.

Worth Quoting and Worth Reading

"For forty years the Waterman Company has been a consistent advertiser. From year to year they increased their advertising—not one dollar of which has affected the cost of their product either to the consumer or to the merchants who sell Waterman's pens. Like Eastman, Victor and a large number of other consistent and continuous advertisers, Waterman's, in the face of rising costs of labor and materials, which enter into both its product and its advertising, is today delivering a far better product than it did years ago without increasing the price. The public should know facts such as these."

COUNCIL SIGNALS ASSEMBLY TO GO ON WITH TRANSIT

Defeats McKinlay Fight for Amendments.

Taking its cue from Mayor Thompson's speech at Springfield on Tuesday, the city council yesterday took a stand interpreted as a gesture to the legislature to pass the pending transit bills, amendments or no amendments.

By a vote of 28 to 10, the aldermen turned down a resolution presented by Ald. D. S. McKinlay demanding that the city be given the right to determine what kind of a franchise it shall issue. A bitter debate, with Thompson leading the measure, preceded the roll call.

The council's action, it was said, means that the city is through with its part in the transit legislation as the bills probably will be disposed of before it meets again.

Takes Issue with Mayor.

Ald. McKinlay's resolution took direct issue with Mayor Thompson, who stated that he sees no big defects in the bills.

"We are absolutely opposed to traction peace at any price," it declared. "We are absolutely opposed to the pending bills unless they are substantially amended to give the city complete power to decide whether it shall issue an indeterminate or fixed term franchise on terms to be agreed to by the city."

"It is perfectly clear to me what this resolution means," said Ald. George Maypole. "It serves notice on the legislature and the public just where this council stands on these bills."

Vote on the Resolution.

Ald. McKinlay moved suspension of the rules to adopt the resolution. The roll call was as follows:

YEAS—Grossman, Guernsey, Wood, Hull, Meyer, McKinlay, Maypole, Mills, Crowe, Albert, Massen.

NAYS—Coughlin, Anderson, Jackson, Cronson, Rowan, Wilson, Hartnett, O'Toole, Moran, Coyle, D. A. Horan, Cepak, Arvey, J. B. Bowler, Sloan, Van Norman, A. J. Horan, Clark, Adamewicz, Petlak, Self, Nusser, Adamowski, Ringa, Loescher, Flegenbutz, Nelson, Mose.

Mayor Thompson took no part in the discussion, although Ald. McKinlay said he "hoped the mayor would join in this protest."

"The mayor appeared before the legislative committee and said he favored the bills," McKinlay asserted. "I am sorry he failed to say he favored the amendments. Afterward, the senators repeatedly said the mayor and the council favors the bills. That is the impression they have down there."

Nelson, Arvey Lead Attack.

Ald. Oscar Nelson and Ald. Jacob Arvey led the attack on the resolution which they said was haphazard and uncalled for. The resolution signed by thirty-eight councilmen on Monday, Ald. Nelson held, was sufficient and adequate in setting forth the council's stand.

"Why quarrel about the dotting of an i or crossing of a t and then get nothing at all?" he asked. "Even if they do pass the legislation they can't make us use it if we don't want to."

Ald. Arvey said: "I don't agree that we are opposed to traction peace at any price. The people want better transportation and they don't give a whoop if John Maynard Harlan or Samuel Insull gives it to them."

Half a dozen aldermen left the room preceding the roll call, apparently to escape voting on the resolution.

Shortly after the defeat of the McKinlay resolution a similar measure, introduced by Ald. Leonard J. Grossman, was sent to committee.

DAY IN SPRINGFIELD

SENATE.

Two Chicago transit bills, one authorizing subway construction, the other eliminating twenty year limitation on street car franchises, were passed, the other three being advanced to final reading.

House bills passed—Overland bills to increase sanitary district tax rate from 18 to 20 cents; Igou bill, increasing south park tax rate from 25 1/2 cents to 40 cents; Igou bill appropriating $350,000 for naval reserve armory for Chicago.

The Hicks joint resolution for a constitutional amendment limiting Chicago's representation in upper house and giving the city proportionate representation in the lower house passed.

HOUSE.

Bills passed—Duro's Chicago Firemen's pension bill; Mariner bill relating to regulation of assessment life insurance companies under the department of trade and commerce.

New bills—By Cutler to send delegation of president of senate and two senators, speaker of house and two representatives to Washington to demand Illinois be fully represented in U. S. senate, $2,500 appropriation.

CHARLES D. WOOD, NOTED ENGINEER, DROPS DEAD HERE

Charles D. Wood, 56, millionaire president of the R. D. Wood company, iron pipe manufacturers of Philadelphia, Pa., died of heart disease suddenly yesterday in a room in the Hotel Sherman in the midst of a session of the executive committee of the American waterworks convention.

With Mr. Wood when he was stricken were James H. Caldwell of Troy, N. Y., and Dennis F. O'Brien of East Orange, N. J. They caught him as he suddenly slumped down and he died in their arms before hotel physicians could be summoned.

Mr. Wood was internationally known as a waterworks engineer. The concern of which he was president is one of the oldest pipe manufacturing companies in the country.

"SENATOR" SIZES UP LEGISLATORS TODAY AND PAST

Get Away with More Now,
He Opines.

BY THE SENATOR.

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—[Special.]—It sounded like old times in the legislature. Old stagers say the Chicago transit situation puts them in mind of the days of the Allen and Humphrey bills.

And the Roman holiday in the house this morning brought back 1909 all over again. Curiously enough, William Lorimer, who was elected senator that year, sat on a sofa in the lobby among the listeners.

Barks About Tribune.

At the end of the short session statesman or other got up and barked about Tribune articles from Springfield telling the truth about the situation in the legislature. He wanted all Tribune correspondents chased out of the house.

At luncheon an assorted group of law makers discussed it.

"I got a laugh," said one, "when this friend of free speech said that Tribune stuff held the legislature up to scorn. As if the assembly could be shocked by anything."

"Well," says I, "why didn't he put in a resolution putting a muffer on all legislators. They're doing the talking."

Talk More Openly.

"These inside impulses that move legislation," says one law maker, "give the real background. Things, I imagine, are not much different from a decade or two ago, but nowadays they talk more openly."

"Yes," says I, "and stuff is pulled in politics these days in open broad daylight, which the politicians could not have got away with a few years ago with a bit of burglar's tools. Who would have thought years ago that Illinois would be ruled by a hundred million bucks? Who would have fancied the governor's office and the legislature would be under a one-man rule based on the governor's power to spend $100,000,000 road bonds and to decide where hard roads should be built and whether the concrete should go past Bill Smith's farm or not?"

Small and Thompson.

"What happened when Mayor Thompson ate dinner with Gov. Small last night," asks one veteran, "Are they getting together?"

"The inside guys say not," says I. "Why should Big Bill link up with Small? Bill has got rid of some of his old advisers. This time his intimates say he is rolling his own. Long ago they say he told Small 'Lundin will hurt you, he damn near ruined me.'"

"But Lundin is still a high guy with the administration. The Thompson men say Bill has no entanglements at all on the governorship."

Backing for Emmerson.

"Well," pipes up an Egyptian, "how about Lou Emmerson? Will the Chicago fellows back him?"

"It's still an open question," says I. "No commitments as yet—everything is tentative. Emmerson's friends have been pointing out to the Chicago bunch that Lou is a whale of a vote getter. In 1924 he got the biggest vote and the biggest plurality of any candidate on the state ticket. He polled 125,000 more votes than Coolidge, and he ran faster than candidates for other state offices did in their home counties. He got 52,000 more votes than Deneen for senator in Cook. He got more votes than did Small for governor in Kankakee county."

"He got more votes than Lieut. Gov.

Fred Sterling in Winnebago, more votes in Mercer county than Attorney General Carlstrom, more in Kane county than Auditor Oscar Nelson, more votes in Knox than did Omer Custer, running for treasurer. Some of the Cook county lads are talking of backing him against Small on proposal that Emmerson will make a campaign issue out of reapportionment. But it's all still in the making.

"John Oglesby is ranked among the candidates, John Harrison of Danville is said to be in a receptive frame, and there are others. There'll be plenty of talk about before the governorship balloons go up at the state fair."

Junkman Fires Through a Knothole, Kills Boy, 15

When a colored youth peeked through a knothole in the garage of Ray Doll, a junk dealer at 1246 West 14th street, yesterday morning Doll seized a shotgun, poked it through the hole, and fired, practically blowing off the boy's head. The dealer ran into his home and hid, being found there later by police. He said he thought the boy was going to break into his shop. A murder charge will be placed against him, police said. The dead youth was Robert Bailey, 15 years old, 1423 Washburne avenue.

THOMPSON'S TAX BILLS RIDE OVER ALL OPPOSITION

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Springfield, Ill., June 8.—[Special.]—Mayor William Hale Thompson's Chicago financing plans—both his project to double the city's bonding power and his effort to increase its corporate tax rate by splitting up the tax now levied for the school building fund—were advanced in the Illinois legislature today over an unexpectedly emphatic protest.

Most of the objection came from Miss Margaret Haley, representing the Chicago Teachers' federation, who complained bitterly that the second half of the program would "bankrupt the schools." This was looked for and the element of surprise came in the support given her by Chicago Democrats and a number of downstaters who almost tied the bonding bills up in the house committee of revenue. The bonding bills have been passed by the senate.

School Building Peril. "If this bill is passed and the increased bonding power bills are not," Miss Haley said, "Chicago would have no means of building the many schools it needs so badly."

"If the bonding bills pass, Chicago will have $57,000,000 additional bonding power over and above the $27,000,000 already authorized and the school building program would exhaust that amount in three years."

Chairman Carlson read a telegram from the Chicago Principals' club endorsing the bill.

MAYOR WARNS OF PAY CUT IF HIS TAX BILLS FAIL

Irked by teachers' opposition to his finance bills, Mayor Thompson issued a statement last night warning that the bills' defeat will mean payment of city employees in scrip and a probable cut of twenty per cent in teachers' salaries.

The statement struck in particular at Miss Margaret Haley, business agent of the Chicago Teachers' federation.

"I inherited a $12,000,000 deficit when I became mayor," the Thompson statement said, "I have bills now before the legislature that will give enough money for us to function without raising taxes. I am hopeful that the bills will pass."

Margaret Haley is doing what she can to defeat these bills. If she is successful the school teachers will have their pay cut 20 per cent, because I am not going to close the schools. City employees also probably would get a 25 to 30 per cent cut or have to be paid in scrip.

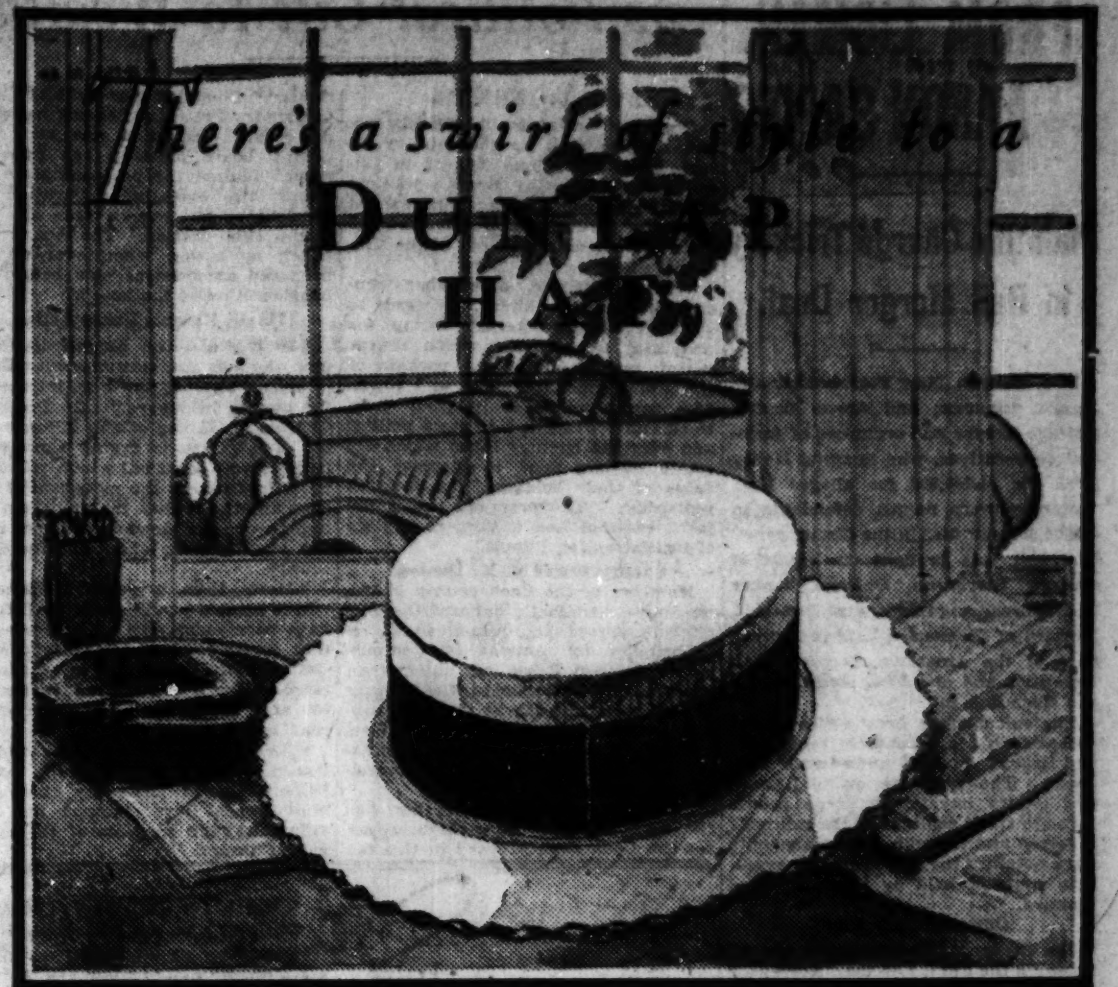

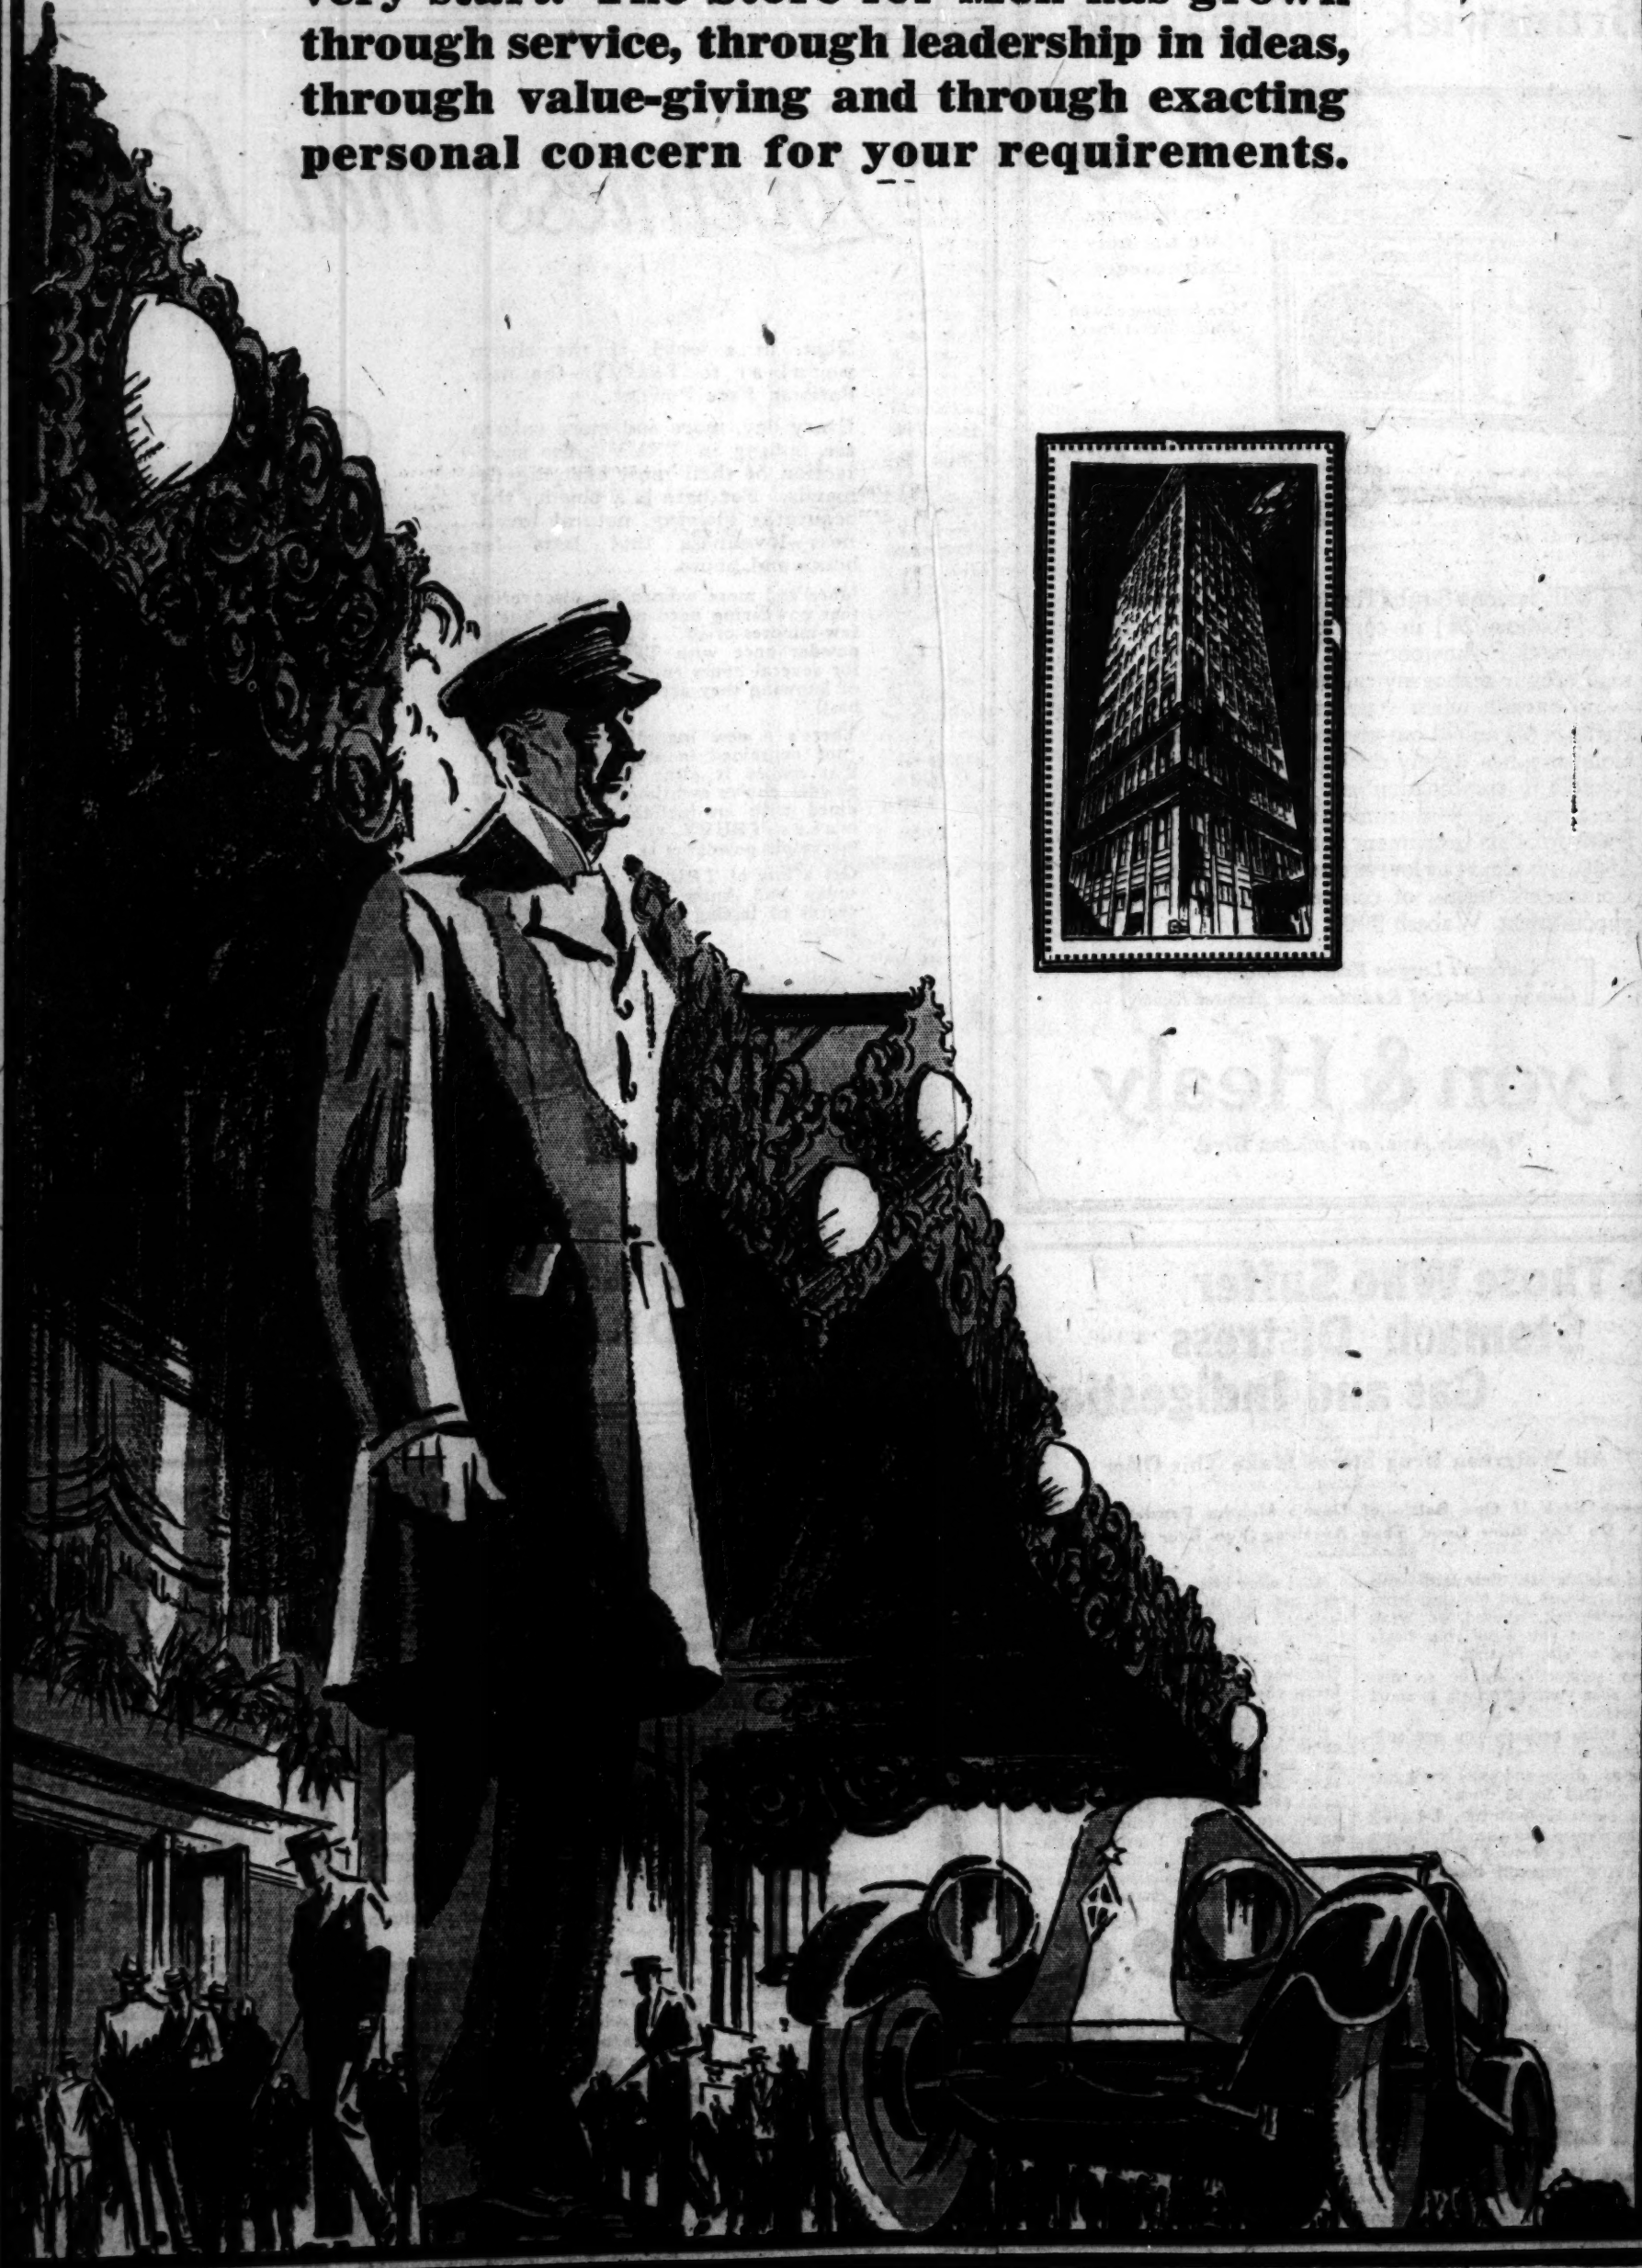

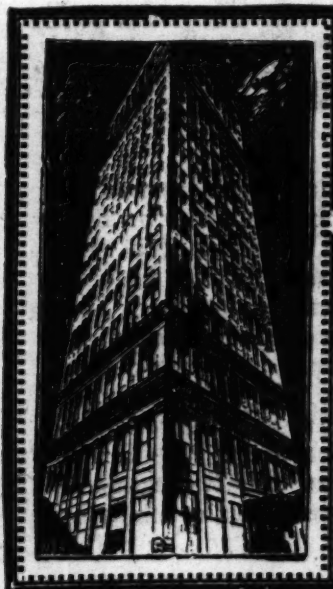

"While I was mayor before I practically doubled the teachers' salaries, Margaret Haley organized the school teachers against me. I have worked night and day on the bond control conference. Those who will receive the greatest benefits from it are the farmers."

"Farmer legislators are fighting my bills at Springfield. There are some things I can't understand and I'm not going to try."

"I believe I will beat Margaret Haley and save the school teachers' salaries. I believe I will beat the farm organizations that are opposing Chicago and I will continue to give my efforts to help the farmers."

SEEK $900,000 FROM LISMAN, AARON SAPIRO

Plaintiffs Charge Trickery in Rail Merger Deal.

F. J. Lisman, New York banker and transit financier, and Aaron Sapiro, Chicago lawyer and organizer of farmers' cooperatives, who is suing Henry Ford for $1,000,000 for alleged libel, yesterday were named defendants in a $900,000 suit filed in the Circuit court.

The suit was brought on behalf of Andrew Stevenson, Chicago banker and railroad organizer, and James R. Howard of Clemons, Ill., former president of the American Farm Bureau federation and now head of the American Economic Institute.

The suit charges breach of contract in handling a syndicate to reorganize and merge several midwestern railroads. The plaintiffs claim Lisman and Sapiro have made large profits through stock dealings in the railroads, involved and through false statements, have obtained the copies of their syndicate contract held by Stevenson and Howard.

Offers Merger Plan.

Mr. Stevenson, according to the petition, is the author of the "Stevenson plan for railroad consolidation." On Jan. 1, 1925, he presented this plan to Lisman, who, incidentally, was the financial man behind a proposal to merge Chicago's traction interests.

Sapiro and Howard, both influential in farmers' cooperative marketing associations, potential customers of carriers, were called in, and the four men, together with Mark T. McKee, Detroit attorney, signed agreements for a merger committee, an underwriting syndicate for organizing a new railroad, ultimately consolidating the Minneapolis and St. Louis, the Chicago Great Western, the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis, the Wabash, and other lines, according to the petition. The new railroad was to be known as the Midwest railroad.

Stevenson began work, the bill relates, by causing the purchase of two branches of the Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis. He organized two new railroads from these branches, the Jacksonville and Havana, and the Chicago, Springfield and St. Louis, and he was named president of the concerns.

Accuse Sapiro, Lisman.

Stevenson and Howard allege that in January of last year Lisman caused them to return the executed copies of their syndicate contract under the false statement that slight modifications were to be made. Lisman and Sapiro, the bill asserts, were conspiring to use the merger plans for their personal benefit, rather than for the benefit of the signers of the agreement. The defendants thereafter caused Stevenson to be deposed as president of the two new lines, it is charged.

The complainants claim injuries to their reputations and loss of time and money in carrying out the work of the syndicate and ask a total damage of $900,000. A companion suit filed at the same time seeks an accounting from the defendants.

Labor Opposes Gasoline Tax as Political Gift to Wealthy

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Organized labor is unalterably opposed to building up the country estates of wealthy land owners in Illinois and feeding Gov. Small's political machine by contributing hard earned money in gasoline taxes, according to John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

"Along with many other labor councils throughout Illinois, I want to warn legislators against voting for this new tax scheme which means taking money out of the pockets of the workingmen in cities and towns who use automobiles in their daily work and pouring it into state politics and over the country lanes which big estate owners need to increase the value of their holdings," he declared yesterday.

"The proposed tax is unjust, wasteful and a dangerous piece of legislation for Illinois."

County Board O. K. Denied.

Members of the Cook county board, who have steadfastly opposed the gasoline tax proposals, disclaimed all responsibility for actions of Commissioner William Buse last night when reports from Springfield indicated that he had spent the day in the state capital working in the interests of Gov. Small's tax scheme, and urging northern legislators to vote for the amended bill.

"Commissioner Buse neither has the authority nor the right to speak for the Cook county board in this tax matter," Commissioner Frank Wilson declared.

"President Cermak has gone on record against a gas tax. The county board officially has gone on record against the proposed state tax which the state administration attempted to put over a year ago and again this session. The board has taken no action whatsoever on the proposed amendment now before the consideration of the house."

Hayes Resents Buse Action.

"In taking it on himself to champion the gas tax, Commissioner Buse is acting against the best interest of the county he serves," said President Charles M. Hayes of the Chicago Motor club. "He is urging representatives to vote for a bill which will heap an unjust tax on the motorists of Chicago and the county, making them pay two to one for downstate lanes without even getting one mile for Cook county."

"More than a dozen millionaires whose estates would profit by this tax have been mentioned. Another estate that comes to mind is that of Arthur Cutten, grain trader, who has made fortunes on the Board of Trade and whose 500 acre estate lies on the Butterfield road south of Lombard."

C. A. Scully, owner of the famous Scully estate of 45,000 acres in central Illinois, denied yesterday that state built roads have jumped his land values as high as some of the values near Chicago.

The government is debating whether to try him by court martial or in the regular courts. Marshal Pilsudski insists on the former because this would lead to capital punishment, which is necessary to protect the reputation of Poland.

M. Zaleski today queried the Polish minister in Berlin, asking him whether he believed it would be advisable for

Spite of England.

MOSCOW, June 8.—[U. P.]—The Izvestia, official newspaper of Soviet Russia, today traced the assassination of the soviet minister to Poland, directly to England.

As Mayor William Hale Thompson was preparing yesterday to take a group of persons interested in flood control to Washington to confer with President Coolidge tomorrow word came that the President is expected to call a special session of Congress early in October to consider among other subjects, flood control.

Senator Smoot (Rep., Utah), made the announcement in Washington after he had been a visitor at the White House. Other callers, including Senator Jones (Rep., Wash.), left the White House, according to dispatches, believing that the President had decided for the special session but late in the day President Coolidge made it known that he is not yet thoroughly convinced of its necessity and will give the matter more consideration.

Mayor Thompson's special train will leave Chicago at 2 o'clock today, and he has an appointment with the President for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. With him on the train will be Mayor Hewitt Paine of Memphis; John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor; W. C. ## Charge of Short Rationing Negro Flood Victims Probed Tales of discrimination in the distribution of relief supplies in the flood area of the lower Mississippi and Arkansas rivers have been sifting through to Chicago friends of Negro refugees in the last few days. One story, printed in The Defender, a colored racial newspaper here, described a condition at Greenville, Miss., which caused such indignation among colored residents of Chicago that the Red Cross officials of the local chapter were asked to make an investigation.

The Greenville account stated that those in charge of relief at that city posted notices that no rations "would be issued to Negro women and children unless there is a man in the family," and that "no Negro men in Greenville nor their families will be rationed unless the men join labor gangs or are employed." The announcement was credited to W. A. Percy, relief chairman of the committee of Greenville, and interpreted by the Defender's correspondent as an edict that Negroes in that city must "work or die of hunger."

Inform General Administrator.
M. R. Reddy, executive secretary of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross to whom the complaints were submitted, immediately took up the subject with the general administrator at St. Louis.

Mr. Reddy in a statement last night said the Negro colony of Chicago had been very generous in its contributions to relief funds, and the individuals were justified in their effort to ascertain that their offerings reached the proper destinations.

"The American Red Cross," he said, "makes no discriminations between meeting the needs of the colored and white people. The Red Cross is giving a substantial service to every one, irrespective of color."

"In its efforts to deal intelligently with the colored people of the south the Red Cross has enlisted the aid of all of the strong Negro organizations of the south, who are making inquiry into Red Cross methods and who are making suggestions for betterment of service. With all of the work being done by these colored organizations, there has not yet come to our organization any complaint of race discrimination."

In regard to the statement printed in The Defender, Reddy said that no Negro women and children unless there is a man in the household, it is absolutely contrary to Red Cross work.

Some Rations Are Limited.
"As to the statement that Negro men in Greenville or their families will not be rationed unless the men join labor gangs, it has always been the policy of the Red Cross to refuse full rations to people who have jobs offered them by which they could gain a livelihood for their families. It was also stated that Negro men employed at $1 a day have the right to rations if they have families."

CHILDREN CRUSH OUT PLAYMATE'S LIFE WITH AUTO

Three Deaths in Day
Raise Toll to 393.

Children killed their playmate, Robert James, 9, of 6447 South Halsted street, yesterday, when they pushed an automobile parked at 64th street and Union avenue into another car, crushing Robert between the two. His playmates became frightened and fled. The boy was dying when noticed and extricated by Delbert Early of 5225 Peoria street.

This and two other deaths raised Cook county's motor toll since Jan. 1 to 393.

Vampire Drivers Hit Two.
Policemen Thomas F. Healy and William Dyrna fired several shots but lost a speeding automobile which failed to stop after hitting a woman believed to be Mrs. Elizabeth Zietzen, 80, at Chicago and Ashland avenues last night. Her skull was fractured. Another non-stop driver hit Edward Gerall, 9, of 2044 Rice street, at Robey and Iowa streets. The boy's leg was broken.

Mrs. Warner G. Baird, wife of the senior member of the Baird & Warner real estate firm, received a possible skull fracture and a broken leg when her auto collided with one driven by Frank A. Anderson, 7629 Sheridan road, at Forest avenue and Kedzie street, Evanston.

FORBIDS FOREST RESERVE BATHING WITHOUT SUITS

Chief Leroy Davidson of the newly organized forest preserve police, yesterday ordered censorship of bathing in the preserves. Not that the forest cops are going to measure the length of swimming trunks—they're merely to see that bathers wear more than nature provides. The chief took action on reading a complaint in "The Voice of the People," reporting nude bathing along the north branch of the river, near Cicero avenue.

COSSMAN AND GROYL WIN TITLE TO COUNCIL SEATS

Ald. Leonard J. Cossman (5th) and Ald. James G. Groyl (17th) were given a clear title to their seats yesterday when the city council voted to file the election contest petitions of former Ald. Charles S. Eaton and Robert E. Barbee.

The action was recommended by the judiciary committee. Ald. Wiley files a minority report, which was laid on the table.

The two defeated candidates based their petitions on allegations that Cossman and Groyl did not receive majorities of all votes cast. The committee held that the election board was justified in throwing spoiled ballots out.

One more election contest, that of Titus A. Haffa, against Ald. Arthur P. Albert (43d) is still pending. It will be acted upon next Thursday.

Increased Volume proves South's Prosperity

Is business continuing good in the South? Was 1926 an unusual year? What are conditions today?

We asked the leading national concerns, the great names in American industry, who make Atlanta their Southern headquarters, how the first quarter of 1927 compared with the same period of 1926. Gains reported ranged from 4% to 200% increase over 1926.

Business is Good in the South

Yes, business is good in the South. The great and permanent prosperity founded on a purchasing power which has more than trebled in the past ten years, is today reaching greater heights than ever before.

And it is significant that those manufacturers who have realized that this country can no longer be served from any one point, who have selected Atlanta as the logical point from which to serve the South, are the ones who are getting the business, increasing their volume, making big profits.

The Ideal Location

Atlanta combines in one location the three great essentials to successful manufacture: Low production cost, brought about by efficient, intelligent, Anglo-Saxon labor, together with big savings in raw materials, power, tax and other basic factors. A rich and growing market, absorbing an ever-increasing volume of the national production of manufactured products. Excellent transportation facilities over 15 railroad lines radiating from Atlanta.

The finest merchandising brains in the country have made the most careful surveys and comparisons, have checked and rechecked every factor entering into the problem of branch location and have found that Atlanta answers every requirement. As a result, over 800 of America's best-known national concerns have placed their Southern Branches in Atlanta.

Get the Facts

The Atlanta Industrial Bureau is thoroughly equipped to present the facts as they apply to your business. There is no charge, no obligation. The information your request will bring may be worth many thousands of dollars to you—may prove the measure of your profits for the coming years. Your inquiry will be held in strict confidence.

PEKING PREPARES FOR TRANSFER TO JOINT REGIME

U. S. Legation Intends to Stay on Job.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
(Copyright, 1927, by the Chicago Tribune.)

PEKING, June 8.—It is estimated that ten days will be required for Marshal Chang Tso-lin to complete his retreat, which continues orderly. In the meantime, proposals for a citizens' conference probably will take shape. Peking continues quiet, with indications that Marshal Chang will retain the responsibility for the city until the details of the transfer to the coalition government are worked out. All the powers admit the difficulty of defending the city with the available forces in Tientsin and Peking, should the situation become anti-foreign, but there is absolutely no evidence of this outcome. On the contrary, most of the restaurants are subdued since the soviet embassy raid, and the agitators have fled. Even should America and Great Britain decide later that a withdrawal is necessary, Japan and possibly France are determined to hold on.

Sun Fo and other officials of the radical government today reached Chenoweth from Hankow, for the purpose of establishing a government in Honan province. This probably will require some days, resulting in a delay in the military operations northward. As Honan was captured by Gen. Feng Yuh-shiang, the development confirms that the Christian general is cooperating with the bolsheviks in Hankow.

On the other hand, Yen Hsi-han is establishing a nationalist government in Shantung province along the lines of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's program. The latter remains on the southern frontier of Shantung, engaged in consolidating Anhwei and Kiangsu provinces. Owing to British hold on the railways he lacks railway equipment for a rapid advance on Shantung, which province is in great danger of a revolt by unpaid troops and the starving populace. In anticipation of disorders in Tientsin, Japanese troops are proceeding there from Tientsin.

Take as a whole, Peking and Chihli province may expect respite, while the American legation has no intention of withdrawing unless ordered by Washington. Most observers believe that when Peking goes over to the revolution it will go quietly.

Chinese Protest Marines.
Washington, D. C., June 8.—(AP)—Protest against augmentation of American forces at Tientsin has been filed with Minister MacMurray by the Peking foreign office.

Minister MacMurray advised the state department today that the Chinese authorities contended that under the Boxer protocol this country was entitled to maintain only such forces as were actually needed to keep open communications between Peking and the sea. He replied that in the judgment of American military authorities the reinforcement by marines was necessary to carry out the purposes of the protocol.

U. S. Marines Ashore.
TIENTSIN, June 8.—(AP)—Debarcation of the American marines with their tanks, artillery and supplies, was completed this afternoon.

Bad Feet and Good Health seldom go together

It is surprising how many have had feet can play with a woman's health. Complicated, too, how few women realize the real danger of aching feet. Do you know that many cases of headache, backache, fatigue and nervousness come from the constant strain of aching, aching feet? The strain that saps your vitality and frays your nerves.

Beauty and youth quickly leave the woman who drags along on aching feet. Yet many women continue to drag along when relief is so easy! Thousands of men and women have found quick and permanent relief by wearing Ground Gripper Shoes. No other shoes combine these three corrective features: The Straight Line Inner Edge, the Flexible Arch, the Patented Rotor Heel. They remove the main causes of most foot troubles and then allow Nature to re-establish the normal health and vigor that your feet should have.

Visit a Ground Gripper store and slip your feet into a pair of Ground Grippers. Relief is often immediate.

EX-POLICE CHIEF IN JAIL AS AID IN KILLING MELLETT

Canton, O., June 8.—(AP)—Serenus A. Lengel, former chief of police, was in the Stark county jail tonight charged with complicity in the killing almost a year ago of Len R. Mellett, Canton editor.

An indictment naming him as the fifth conspirator in the death plot was returned by the county grand jury today.

Lengel was arrested a few minutes later. He made no statement, except to say briefly that he was innocent. An indictment naming him as the fifth conspirator in the death plot was returned by the county grand jury today.

Lengel, white haired veteran of nineteen years connection with the Canton police department, was drawn into the case presumably by the testimony of Floyd E. Streitenberger, a former detective under him. Streitenberger is now serving a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary.

Three men besides Streitenberger are serving life sentences for the killing. They are Patrick McDermott, alleged to have been the actual killer, and Ben Rudner, Massillon, O., hardware merchant. Louis Maser, resort keeper, has turned state's evidence and is still in jail awaiting trial.

600,000 LIVES ARE CREDITED TO PURITY OF WATER

Modern methods of purifying drinking water have saved at least 600,000 lives, Abel Wolman, chief engineer for the state of Maryland, told the 3,000 delegates in attendance at the forty-seventh annual convention of the American Waterworks association in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

"Chlorination and filtration of water have cut the American death rate in typhoid fever from 40 per 100,000 in 1900 to less than 5 per 100,000 in 1927," said Mr. Wolman. "Of course," he added, "rigid milk inspection and police control contributed their shares in practically eliminating typhoid fever from American homes."

J. B. Eddy, chief engineer of the water pipe extension bureau of Chicago, told the delegates that Chicago each day wastes a total of 90,000,000 gallons of water through leakage of pipes, the commercial value of this waste in a year being sufficient to build a $7,000,000 filtration plant and solve the city's pure water problem for all time.

JAIL IS FILLED WITH JUDGES' VACATIONS NEAR

Few Cases Now on Trial Before Courts.

Judges of the Criminal courts were notified yesterday by Warden Edward J. Fogarty that he has more than 1,000 in the jail awaiting trial. Records show that this exceeds by several hundred at least the usual quota in the jail just before the start of the judicial vacation time.

Despite the apparent congestion of the criminal calendars a survey of the courts at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, two hours before the usual court adjournment period, showed only four of the ten judges assigned to court criminal work actually engaged in a trial. Chief Justice William J. Lindsay and Judges Harry B. Miller, William V. Brothers and Jacob Hopkins were the jurists at work yesterday afternoon. Judge Emanuel Eller had cleared his calendar for the start of a murder case, which had to be postponed until today for a special venire.

Several Others Not in Court. Judges Kirkham Scanlan, Joseph B. David, and William N. Gemmill, who recently were assigned to help clean up the criminal docket, did not hold any session of court yesterday. It was reported to the state's attorney's office. It was necessary to have all cases in these courts continued. Judges John J. Sullivan and Phillip L. Sullivan were among the absentees in the afternoon.

The report submitted by Warden Fogarty shows that on June 1 he had 1,447 prisoners, while last year the number was only 827. Prior years the figures show about the same amount as 1926. Exact figures were not available, but at the criminal court clerk's office it was said that more than 1,300 indictments are pending.

Among the prisoners in the jail are 62 charged with murder, 142 with gun robbery, 79 with burglary, and 13 with rape.

Lindsay Offers Remedy. Judge Lindsay announced that he would request his associates to try to clean up these crimes by working during the summer months.

"I might suggest," Judge Lindsay said, "that if the municipal court judges would dispose of many of the minor cases instead of passing them to the criminal courts the calendars would not be so crowded."

"The principal causes for delay are avoidable," Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission, said in a recent bulletin. "They could be removed by an exercise of authority by a presiding judge, the prosecuting attorney or the attorney for the defense. The administration of criminal justice has become a seasonal occupation. It takes long vacations and frequent holidays."

SEEK OWNER OF MYSTERY PEARLS VALUED AT $20,000

(Picture on back page.) Detectives William Crot and Frank Johnson of the bureau last night were seeking the owner of a $20,000 necklace of perfect pearls, at first thought to belong to Miss Louise Mitchell, daughter of John J. Mitchell, banker. But Miss Mitchell, when she viewed the pearls, said they were not the ones she lost several weeks ago. The string was found in the possession of Peter Kyriakos, 35, a chief of 728 Sholto street, who was discovered with it in a jewelry store in the Sherman hotel.

Kyriakos, who was held while police are investigating, said he found the string several weeks ago in Canal street outside the Union passenger station. He said he had not gone to the jeweler to sell it, but that he had simply wanted a valuation on it. It is a necklace of 128 graduated, perfect pearls.

CHICAGO HALL PLANNERS GET DOWN TO WORK

Oppose Too Much Haste in Completing Project.

(Picture on back page.) Eleven of Chicago's leaders assembled yesterday at the call of William R. Dawes, president of the Association of Commerce, and worked out plans for building the new $15,000,000 Chicago hall. "Let's get going but let's not go too fast," was the universal sentiment expressed.

It was agreed by Mr. Dawes, Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board; James Simpson, head of the Chicago plan commission; W. Rufus Abbott, and William C. Boyden, president of the Chicago Bar association, who have been appointed as citizens' committee in charge of building the hall, that the idea of having it completed in time for the national convention next June should be abandoned.

"To Build for Posterity." "We're spending $15,000,000 of the people's money," remarked Mr. Cermak, "and we are building for posterity. We want a structure that will be a pride to Chicago and to the nation. Such a building can't be put up in a few months."

The suggested contest for architects throughout the country was commented on favorably by all members of the committee. The county board probably will appropriate an amount to be put up as a prize for the winning design. It was said. This matter was referred to the committee on construction, design and equipment, of which Mr. Abbott is chairman. He called a meeting for Friday morning.

The committee on construction requirements and facilities must first complete a survey before the other committees can do much," said Mr. Dawes.

Committee to Tour Country. "John N. Vander Vrie, who is chairman of this committee, has called his members together for a meeting immediately. They must inquire into the uses which the building will be put to, find out how much space will be needed and what the seating capacity should be."

Three members of this committee probably will tour the United States, inspecting other auditoriums so that the best features of all may be incorporated in Chicago hall. It was announced yesterday that the hall would not be made for months.

"We have hundreds of sites suggested," he said. "Every section of the city is bidding for the honor of having the hall constructed in its neighborhood. It would be unwise to make public any of these suggested sites. The one thing to be borne in mind is that the site picked will be accessible to the loop and will have ample parking facilities."

West Parks Offer Site. The west park commissioners yesterday adopted resolutions offering the property in Union park as a free site for the hall. The south park commissioners already have offered a site south of Soldiers' field.

Others present at the meeting yesterday were R. B. Beach, secretary of the committee; O. Q. Foreman, general treasurer; Frank M. Gordon, chairman of the committee on financial plan and vice president of the First Trust and Savings bank; Maj. R. F. Kelker Jr., chairman of the committee on transportation facilities, and John A. Delaney of the committee on public relations.

MISS POPE SUES FOR MCCLINTOCK ESTATE DOWER

Fiancee of Rich Youth Asks Widow's Share.

(Picture on back page.) Miss Isabelle Pope, fiancée of the late William Nelson McClintock, yesterday filed suit for a widow's share of his $1,500,000 estate. She charges William D. Shepherd, executor and principal legatee under a will be adjudicated, with fraud in preventing her from being married to the young millionaire on his death bed.

Shepherd, the boy's foster father, who was acquitted in 1924 on a murder charge in connection with his death, would be forced to make an accounting of his management of the estate and a receiver would take charge of the assets until the termination of the litigation. If the court should grant Miss Pope's request, "Wanted to Marry Him."

Miss Pope, who received an annuity of $8,000 under the contested will, alleges that she wanted to be wed to McClintock during his fatal illness because he requested it and she believed it would aid his fight to recover. As his wife, she says, she would have been permitted to remain at his bedside. The girl sought the advice of Shepherd, the bill relates. He told her she could not get a marriage license unless McClintock were able to accompany her to the license bureau.

and knowing Shepherd to be a lawyer, she believed his misrepresentation, the bill alleges, and abandoned her plans to be married because McClintock could not leave his sick bed. Miss Pope's pleading joins the suit brought by seven distant cousins of the boy, who are seeking to oust Shepherd as executor of the estate and to break the will which cuts them out except for several insignificant bequests. These relatives are A. A. Eaton, C. D. Eaton, Ira F. Eaton, Viola Eaton, Maude Eaton Walker, Minnie Eaton Kersten, and Luella Tokun.

One Hearing August 8. Her bill asks that if the court finds the will is valid and that Shepherd is entitled to his interest in the estate as named in the will, then Shepherd will be directed to hold the interest in the property she claims as trustee for her. If the will be found invalid, she asks the court to award her the estate. If the court decides to divide the estate among the seven cousins, Miss Pope asks that her share as a widow be declared a trust fund with the cousins acting as trustees.

Hearing on Shepherd's bill of exceptions to the charges made by the cousins was set by Circuit Judge Francis S. Wilson for Aug. 8. Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, speaking for Shepherd, said: "If the public has been in doubt as to the underlying motive in the persecution of Mr. Shepherd, this bill should be rather enlightening."

THREE DOCTORS DECLARE SCHOLL SLAYER, INSANE

Father, a Preacher, Aids
State.

Walter A. Scholl's love for his second wife was so intense it was a mania, three physicians testified yesterday in a courtroom at Valparaiso, Ind., where Scholl's lawyers are striving to save him from the electric chair as the slayer of his two children.

His lawyers insisted that when his wife, Mrs. Margaret Scholl, left him he became desperate and last March killed his children in a bungalow at Gary, Ind. Supplementing the testimony of the doctors was that of Father C. J. Mongovan of Valparaiso, who gave his opinion that Scholl was not rational regarding his wife who had left him. Judge Grant Crumpacker will hear the closing arguments on Monday and is expected to rule then, either sending Scholl to prison for life or to the death chair.

Father Calls Him Sane.
The physicians described Scholl, son of a Pittsburgh, Pa., preacher, as a victim of mania. His father, the Rev. Charles A. Scholl, and mother were in court yesterday. Mr. Scholl said he regarded his son as sane. Mrs. Scholl was scarcely able to testify and her son smiled several times.

According to Dr. Herman Siepel, former county coroner, questioned by Defense Attorney D. E. Kelly, Scholl repudiated to him his former confessions in which he assumed the entire guilt. Scholl then charged his wife killed the six year old boy, Dennis, while Scholl did away with Vivian, the eight year old daughter. Scholl declared, Dr. Siepel testified, that he and his wife were to have committed suicide, but Mrs. Scholl "ran away."

Dr. Andrew F. Lethman declared that Scholl's lack of remorse or sor-

Denies Insanity Theory.

Prosecuting Attorney Oliver Starr offered the testimony of Dr. O. E. Tempin as refutation of the mania diagnosis. Dr. Tempin declared Scholl was sane, could tell right from wrong, had held a responsible position, and is a "perfectly normal criminal."

Dr. Tempin said the killing of the children was the result of a threat of what Scholl would do if Mrs. Scholl did not return. It was shown by other witnesses the Scholls were estranged about a dozen times in four years. Scholl's parents followed Dr. Tempin, the mother telling of her son's childish ailments.

Friend Tells His Story.

Father C. J. Mongovan, pastor of St. Paul's church, Valparaiso, testified that Scholl had requested him to baptize the children a week before the murder, thinking that Mrs. Scholl, a Catholic, might be reconciled to him.

Father Mongovan refused the request because Scholl was unknown to him.

The priest said Scholl became greatly excited when talking about his wife.

"I baptized my own children," Scholl told Father Mongovan when the priest visited him in his cell after the murder. "I borrowed a bottle of water from a neighbor."

P. J. DAEMICKE JR. KILLS HIMSELF WITH REVOLVER

In health and severe business reverses are believed responsible for the suicide yesterday of Paul J. Daemicke Jr., 25, 2845 South Union avenue, head of the Paul J. Daemicke Refrigerator company, 150 West Lake street.

Daemicke stepped into the jewelry store of Harley D. Hoover, 158 West 29th street, a friend, procured Hoover's revolver from behind a counter and shot himself through the head. He died shortly afterwards at St. Bernard's hospital without regaining consciousness. An inquest will be held today at Sprey's undertaking parlors, 1222 Cottage Grove avenue.

Daemicke was allotted an equal share with his two brothers and five sisters in a $900,000 estate left by his father who died in 1923, the will providing that the division should take place upon the death of the mother.

Birds Stage Aerial Circus in Lake Lands

BY BOB BECKER.
Antioch, Ill., June 8.—(Special).—
When the pike won't bite up here in the northern Illinois lake region, you can forget fishing and have almost as much fun studying bird life of the lake and marsh. With the fish scorned to swat our lures this morning we turned our attention to birds, as a wide variety of interesting species were in the air or singing from the marsh near the weed bed over which we were casting.
The most spectacular flying birds near our boat were the little terns who staged an aerial circus for our benefit. These small black fellows, less than a foot long, dipped, banked, idled, slipped, and zoomed around us with great assurance.
In fact, they were quite bold, as their nests were about 50 yards away at the edge of the marsh, and they didn't fancy our prowling around near their home-sites.
There were about a dozen in the air, trim, graceful fellows, and not hard to look at as this little black tern of the inland lakes has a black head, neck, and underparts. As is the custom with the family, the birds nest in colonies and make their nests at the edge of marshy lakes.
While pattering around at the end of the lake where the tern flying circus was in progress, we flushed a rail, which fluttered over the grass and then dropped down to hide again. Young red winged blackbirds were numerous, and what a scolding the old birds gave us as they hovered over our head and protested against the invasion of their marsh home.

PART THREE WOMEN'S FEATURES WANT ADS

Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER.

STUPID.

Sophy and Piero Tancred have lately taken the Villa Mona at Bordighera, on the Italian Riviera. Sophy learns that her former husband, Alan Brooke, the sculptor, is living near by and that they are to meet at dinner that night. She is afraid of her husband's jealousy, and since she thought she was a widow when he married her, she goes to Brooke's studio to warn him against seeing Piero that they had been married. Alan tells Sophy that he has been married, to his wife and she has a little son, Willie Moppel, who is the housekeeper. He tells her that he has been married, to his wife and she has a little son, Willie Moppel, who is the housekeeper. He tells her that he has been married, to his wife and she has a little son, Willie Moppel, who is the housekeeper.

INSTALLMENT LIII.

A CRY IN THE NIGHT.

Alan took the check, glanced at it mechanically, and then—without comment—tore it into shreds, while Cristina, aghast at such a proceeding, gave a shriek of dismay.

"Rather than I should benefit, you do that!" she cried. "O, but you are a wicked and cruel and heartless man. First you try to murder your little wife."

"Be silent!" Alan thundered. "How dare you say such a thing?"

"Because it is true. And have you not just proved your wickedness?" Or perhaps you are mad. Yes, only a madman would tear up money so.

"That's exactly what it was—a piece of dirty paper," Alan said, with a sneering smile. "And I am not interested in your father's earnings. This doesn't concern him, or you."

"It concerns me and Giovanni. I am your wife," Cristina stamped her foot. "Next you will try to murder me—"

"Be quiet, will you?" My God, if I'm not already mad, I soon will be."

Alan's face twisted, and he passed a weary hand over his eyes. He seemed to question her about Piero's visits, but that would be climbing down to her level, and he wasn't prepared for such a descent.

And Cristina, on her side, was wary of saying too much about Piero and their conversation. She didn't want to provoke an open quarrel between the two men lest Alan should be worsted, which, in her opinion, would be lowering her own dignity. So Alan was left to wonder what he had to do with motives lay behind the presentation of that check. It might be, and seemed reasonable, that Sophy had done what she did not want to continue the stings and that he had come up here to explain or apologize on her behalf.

She had said at San Remo that she did not feel equal to going on with them. He took his pipe out in the garden, where it was unusual for Cristina to follow him unless she were specially invited, and tonight Alan was certainly in no mood to invite her.

She was right about one thing—dead right. He did, indeed, want her out of the house. Why on earth should she so suddenly become disturbing and malicious along with it? For years he had scarcely thought of her as his wife, and she had never minded before. He had come and gone as he pleased, and for all Cristina had shown anxiety it might have been that each time he went away he took with him a woman companion. She had never questioned, however, the least of jealousy or curiosity on the subject. He imagined that the fact that he never had done so had nothing to do with the present situation. Out of the blue Cristina had grasped the whole significance of his plot and was now set upon frustrating it. That she had seen him with Sophy in his arms might have a little to do with her cleverness, he had to admit, but surely didn't account for everything.

Fuming, he tramped to and fro along the narrow ledge, limping a little, but determined to get the stiffness out of his joints. And he, too, marked the lights of the Villa Mona and wondered what might be going on down there.

The night was very broken only at those intervals when the clock in the Old Town clanged out the passing of time. There was scarcely a breath of air, not enough even to rustle the dusty palms. Once a laden wheel went slithering down the path by the wall, followed by the shrill "Ale-hoy!" of its guardian; and again, for a moment, a bird with a fierce chatter—probably a nightjar—set up a brief but raucous clamor. But these few interruptions only intensified the deep, breathless silence. Monte Nero over there . . . like a monstrous black beast crouched against the skyline . . . the old quarry, where it was by the mercy of God that both Alan and Giovanni were not lying at this moment . . . overhead the mysterious

Why did he want Sophy to such desperation? Where was the meaning in that? There was no particular excellence in her any more than there was in himself. Sophy had none of Cristina's hardy virtues; and he, thank heaven, was not like Piero Tancred.

This determination to get what was denied him? He didn't want to hurt Cristina; he merely wanted her to leave him alone and let him go his own way. If she elected to stand in his way too persistently he might have to hurt her, but never before had he dreamed that she could be hurt in that particular fashion. In spite of her race and primitive upbringing Cristina had always seemed to him singularly free from the trammels of sex.

As far as Alan knew, he had only one life to live, and how dangerously near it had been and still was to being spoiled. He remembered it was by reason of Cristina's devoted nursing during his serious illness that he was still alive. One might say he owed his life to Cristina. O, dear heaven, was that a eternal obligation? Was his very life, then, Cristina's?

Yes, it was all sheer truth. One's life belonged not to oneself, but to others. Cristina doubtless remembered her obligation and was getting ready to duck it into his face. What a compelling hand on him; clinging and heavy.

In two, three hours, Sophy and he were due to meet and slip away to another out of this place forever, yet since the accident in the quarry pool Alan had felt that a certain unending tinged his relations with Sophy. But of course it was all planned, the little car was waiting down in the garage by the station, his two suit cases were there, and all of his practical affairs as related to the Casa Poverina were settled. Yet now, within so short a time of departure, it seemed unreal that he was going away with Sophy, never to be parted from her again in this world until death overtook one of them.

God, what was that?

Alan stood as though stricken for the briefest fraction of a moment, then rushed to the edge of the little cliff garden, and stared down at the lights of the Villa Mona.

A woman's voice, a cry; Sophy's voice, he was certain.

Afterward Alan, he had no memory at all of how he got to the Villa Mona. He all he knew he might have spread his wings and flapped down over the side of the cliff. Actually, of course, he must have pursued the direct line, first by the mule path, then along behind the Doris, and finally past the house, taken ten minutes. Yet, suddenly, without knowing how it was, he was there, hammering with clenched fists at that unresponsive gate.

The noise he created was pandemonium, yet it seemed a great before the gate was opened. First came a "Who?" then a "What?" and finally, turned to himself and found Lucia, the Tancred's cook, on the other side, gazing at him and trying to steady herself against the gate.

"Savagely he demanded of her to be told what had happened, but the woman was almost incoherent. . . I heard only a great noise at the gate. . . Nothing—nothing, signor. . . I am very ill, signor." That was all he got out of her.

Teacher Fired by M'Andrew Retains Place

Coath Forces Vote to Put Her in Another School.

Supt. William McAndrew's recommendation for a teacher's dismissal yesterday brought the first open clash between Deves appointees and President J. Lewis Coath's faction on the board of education. McAndrew lost. President Coath and his followers voted down a motion by Dr. Otto L. Schmidt to overrule the administration committee's recommendation that Miss Margaret Miller, a teacher in the Orr school, be retained, contrary to the superintendent's wishes.

The anti-Coath trustees also fought against Mayor Thompson's proposal to wipe out the school building fund and construct schools on borrowed money.

President Coath's new policy of abolishing bureaus in the business department before consulting the board as a whole, and against "the undignified attitude of the board" in desiring to send Supt. McAndrew to the city council's school committee to be questioned.

Trustees Walter J. Raymer's request for an open discussion of legislation on the school building fund now pending at Springfield resulted in a 5 to 5 tie with Vice President John A. English voting against the Thompson forces.

One member, Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, was absent.

Action was deferred on the school administration committee's recommendation that Supt. McAndrew be requested to appear before the aldermen.

It was on the question of Miss Miller's expulsion that decided opposition was voiced. The school administration committee, controlled by President Coath, decided last week to transfer the teacher to another school.

Leaders of the Chicago branches praised the work of Col. Marburg during his service here.

Theological School Wins
Fight with Evanston

If the Western Theological seminary still proposes to erect buildings opposite Patten gymnasium of Northwestern university in Evanston, it may do so, the Supreme court of Illinois decided yesterday, ending long litigation between the seminary and the city of Evanston.

Evansville passed zoning laws restraining the seminary from beginning proposed construction. The circuit court upheld the city, but the decision yesterday was reversed and the case remanded by the Supreme court.

"Transferring this teacher would be an imposition to another school," Dr. Otto L. Schmidt said. "It was wrong to do so."

"It is a waste of money and a waste of time," said Coath. "It is a waste of money and a waste of time."

Pope Points to Bolshevism as World Menace

Sees Danger to Nations as Well as to Church.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 8.—Pope Pius has chosen a period in which British, Italian and American statesmen are pointing out the dangers of Red Russia to reiterate his position regarding bolshevism.

Under the title, "The Vaster Peril," the official organ of the Vatican, "Osservatore Romano," points out that not only the bolshevik danger spread in the Orient, but Europe itself is beginning to show alarm.

Quoting Premier Mussolini's recent speech in the chamber of deputies, "Osservatore Romano" reviews the conditions in various countries where bolshevism either is rampant or has been gaining a foothold during recent years.

"The holy father has listened to the outcry of civilization toward the anti-social, anti-civilized works of bolshevism," the statement continues.

"There were times when a broken altar or the martyrdom of a priest moved none. That is no longer true."

"All governments in all civilized nations unite their chorus of protest with the voice of the holy father. Seldom in history has the fact that the but of a missionary is equivalent to the advance of civilization and peace of nations been so well demonstrated."

"Religion and the order of social progress advance together bound in indissoluble unity. Conquests and dangers are common, both to the church and civilized nations."

Leaders of the Chicago branches praised the work of Col. Marburg during his service here.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, For today's question Mrs. A. Apple, 127 West Harrison street, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Should the same honors be accorded Clarence Chamberlin as Col. Charles Lindbergh?

Where Asked.

State street bridge.

The Answer.

W. A. Rowe, 4446 Racine avenue, adding machine salesman—No, sir. Lindbergh was the first to put that stunt across.

He took the initiative, and had the nerve to put it over alone.

Chamberlin followed in his trail, not alone but with a companion. Lindbergh did what no other man had done and deserves first honors.

Mrs. W. H. Haas Jr., 616 Winthrop avenue, housewife.

Col. Lindbergh deserves the greater honor because he was the first to cross the Atlantic in a plane; and because he went alone.

The blue ribbon for Col. Lindbergh; the red ribbon for Chamberlin.

H. S. Kaiser, 31 West Kinzie street, engineers and contractors.

Col. Lindbergh deserves the greater credit because he was the first to help him or in any way relieve him during the steady grind of the trip.

His accomplishment was solely on his own endurance and the unflinching operation of his plane and motor. Lindbergh could have gone to Berlin or Moscow had that been his destination.

Mrs. Zedie Malone, 8 West Ontario street, housewife.

The flight by Chamberlin and Lindbergh was as wonderful as that by Col. Lindbergh. That they flew a greater distance is immaterial compared with the fact that they proved that a flight with a heavier plane and an additional passenger is possible.

Somewhere Chicago, 1127 Blue Island avenue, printer.

Not necessarily. Chamberlin and Levine should be given a lot of credit, but Lindbergh has been given still greater credit. Lindbergh was the trail blazer across the ocean. After a first success, others always follow and improve upon their methods.

THEATER

Way Is Paved
for Passing of Auditorium

Home of Opera to Yield to Great Hotel.

BY AL CHASE.

Replacement of Chicago's historic Auditorium theater, hotel, and office building with a modern skyscraper was practically assured yesterday when the United States Circuit Court of Appeals remanded back to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, the suit enjoining the owners of the property from tearing down the building.

R. Floyd Clinch, president of the Chicago Auditorium association, announced, by Mr. Insull's announcement, vague as to the proposed new Auditorium, one thing was certain, the building would contain one of the finest and tallest hotels in the world. It also may contain a theater.

The question of an opera house apparently has been shoved into the background, so far as the new Auditorium is concerned, by Mr. Insull's announcement of his proposed home for Civic opera on the river bank.

"It may be some time before the final decree is rendered in the present case," said Mr. Clinch, "but we feel sanguine that it's all going to come out all right. All former sketches by the late Charles Fox, of course, were thrown out. It's a foregone conclusion, however, that we'll include a huge hotel in our new plans and we'll benefit from Chicago's other new hotels and try and go on one better. We'll probably build as high as we can."

When Mr. Fox made his sketches the legal height limit was approximately 240 feet. Now, with the use of the new skyscraper law, the limit is unlimited. The new Auditorium, based on its large ground area, could climb skyward fifty or more stories.

Mr. Clinch said the new hotel would rival the world famous names of the Auditorium—and undoubtedly would be operated by the same management. This settles the rumor that a New York hotel syndicate might get control.

A year ago Judge Wilkerson ruled that he had no jurisdiction in the suit, enjoining the owners from tearing down the Auditorium and dismissing the hearing. Lessors of the building opposed the wrecking because the original lease contained a clause against it.

And, as to Gilbert and Sullivan, the respective revivals of "Ruddigore" and "Patience" in New York were in worse shape than "Ruddigore" was the circumstance that "Ruddigore" was worse than "Patience."

The Theater Guild of New York, which has been demonstrating that it is devoted to the idea of repertoire by successfully giving six plays in three theaters in week-to-week alternation, is reducing the number to four—"The Second Man," "The Silver Cord," "Ned McCobb's Daughter," and "Pim Passes By." The pieces retired are Shaw's "Pygmalion" after a long run, and Pirandello's "Right You Are, You Think You Are!" which seems to be at the best what we use the term "precious" when we mean that persons who said they liked an arty thing were merely pretending that they liked it. . . . The Guild is shuffling its cards to take care of the new arrangement; and, in order that he may remain in "The Second Man," Alfred Lunt is turning his part of the tough New York brawler over to John Cromwell, who had it in the good and neglected Chicago performances.

Miss Anglin, who has not for some time been active in the centers of population, is making ready to reappear in "A Woman of Bronze" in New York, with two dollars as the cost of the best seat.

The reporters don't think too well of the Players' revival this week in New York of "Julius Caesar"; and the casting, while it ought to make for a fairer journeyman performance, is not sufficiently starry to create a queue at the box-office. James Rennie is credited with making of Marc Antony a dandy little dude of a Roman fustianer. . . . But the interesting aspect of the review is that they betray the drama-critics as actually having read either the play, itself, or something about it; two or three of them not only quote accurately from the text, but also indicate that they have caught the thread of the story. This tendency seems to be growing among the play-reviewers down there. When, recently, the actor of the Major-General in Mr. Ames' revival of "The Pirates of Penzance" skipped the second verse of the famous patter-song, two of the first-night critics noted the omission.

Ganna Walska Portrays

VIENNA, June 8.—The Vienna performance of "The Miracle" tonight scored a great success, with the role of the nun by Ganna Walska, who revealed marked possibilities as a dramatic and emotional artist.

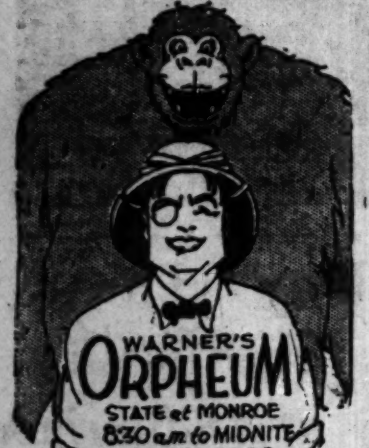

Bright Sayings
of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child's saying printed. The saying must have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unsolicited contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunt Sue, The Tribune, Chicago.

This occurred at dinner recently. When little Margaret passed her plate the third time for chicken, I said to her, "My dear, you must not eat so much chicken. I am afraid you'll be ill."

"Well, mother," said Margaret, "I'm only eating this so I can have some bones for Fido."

Luella and Fred, cousins, were always arguing and could never agree. A few days ago Luella, looking scornfully at Fred, said, "I won't ask you to my party, Missus Fred. You're always scragging; I never get a single word ahead of you."

FIND OUT "THE NAKED TRUTH"
"Before you marry any man, know his family, his health, his reputation, his antecedents, and do not take his word for it."

FIND OUT THE MYSTERIES OF LIFE!!
See the Most Sensational Motion Picture in Years, "The Naked Truth"—and Know Why Many Marriages Are Failures

Blindfolded women take the vital step that is the greatest event in their lives. Blindfolded, as trusting as a little child, they started with him upon a "honeymoon" which in a few short weeks may turn them from a carefree happy girl into a gray-haired, sorrow stricken woman because they were ignorant of the vital facts of life.

"The Naked Truth" is not a happy picture story. Rather it is a terrible story, thrillingly terrible with the terror that any girl must feel who finds that her love has led her into a state of dreadful bondage. But it carries a lesson, an insight into life, that every girl and every woman should learn for her own safety and for posterity. See "The Naked Truth" so that you may know life and not have to pay for the knowledge, as thousands of women had to pay through sad experience.

"The Naked Truth" is different from any other picture you ever saw, although many a sad-faced woman could tell a similar tale if she only had the moral courage to bare her heart.

In addition to "The Naked Truth" the management will show exclusive special reels made only for women audiences—it tells and shows everything, actual scenes, going into complete details. A thrilling story featuring Jack Mulhall, Helene Chadwick.
